b Hue and Crie, Hurefium & Clamor, dict. à G. Huér, & Crier, both signifying to shout, or crie aloud. I. Accori-huomo. This signifieth a pursuit of one having committed felonie by the high way, for if the partie robbed, or any in the companie of one murdered or robbed, come to the Constable of the next towne, and will him to raise Hiew and Crie, or to make pursuit after the offender, describing the partie, and shewing as neere as he can, which way hee is gone; the Constable ought forthwith to call upon the Parish, for aid in seeking the felon: and if hee be not found there, then to giue the next Constable warning, and he the next, until the offender be apprehended, or at the least, until he be thus pursued to the sea side. Of this reade Bract. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 5. Smith de repub. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 20. and the stat. An. 13. Edw. 1. stat. of Winch. cap. 3. & an. 28. Ed. 3. ca. 11. & Anno 27. El. cap. 13. The Normans had such a pursuit with a Crie after offenders, as this is, which they called Haro: whereof you may reade the Grand Customarie, cap. 54. Some call it * Harol: the reason whereof they giue to be this. That there was a Duke of Normandie called Rol, a man of great justice and severitie against greuous offenders: and that thereupon when they follow any in this pursuit, they crie Ha-Rol, as if they should say, Ah Rol, where art thou that wert wont to redresse this, or what shouldst thou doe against these wretches, if thou now wert liuing. In which case, they that are within hearing must make pursuit, or pay a fine. Sometime Hue is used alone, q Anno 4. Ed. 1. Sta. 2. This the Scots call Hurefium, Vi. Skene verbo Hurefium. * The manner of their Hue and crie, as he there describeth it, is that if a robberie be done, a horne is blowne, and an outcrie made: after which, if the partie flee away, and not yeeld himselfe to the Kings Bayliffe, he may be lawfully slaine, and hangd up upon the next gallows. Of this Hue and Crie, see Crompt. Iust. of peace, fol. 160. b.

 impanelled in the inquisition of causes criminal and public: and written vp on the Bill, whereby any crime is offered to their consideration, when as they mislike their evidence as defective, or too weak to make good the Presentment. The effect of which word so written is, that all farther inquirie upon that partie for that fault, is thereby stopped, and he deliuered without farther answer. It hath a resemblance with that custome of the ancient Romanes: where the Judges, when they absolved a person accused, did write * A. vpon a little Table provided for that purpose, i. absoluius: if they iudged him guiltie, they writ * C. i. Condemnamus: if they found the cause difficult and doubtful, they writ * N. L. i. non liquet, b Iustice, Iusticiarius, significat him that is deputed by the King, to doe right by way of iudgement. The reason why he is called * Iustice, and not Iudex, is, because in ancient time the Latine word for him was Iusticia, and not Iusticiarius, q. Glan. lib. 2. cap. 6. Houeden, parte poster. annalium, fol. 473. a. and diuers other places: which appellation we haue from the Normans, as appeareth by the great Customarie, cap. 3. Men of this function should hereby consider, that they are (or ought to be) not Iusti in their iudgements, but in abstract, ipsa iusticia. Another reason why they are called Iusticiarij, and not Iudices, is, because they haue their authoritie by deputation, as Delegates to the King, and not iure magistratus: and therefore cannot depute others in their stead, the Iustice of the Forest only excepted, who hath that libertie especially given him by the statute q. An. 3. 2. and such like, are not called Iusticiarij, but Iudices. Of these Iustices you have divers sorts in England, as you may perceive here following. The manner of creating these Iustices, with other appertinances, read in Fortescue, cap. 5.

Justice of the Kings Bench, (Iusticiarius de Banco Regis) is a Lord by his Office, and the chiefe of the rest: wherefore he is also called Capitalis Iusticiarius Angliæ. His office especially is, to heare and determine all pleas of the Crowne: that is, such as concerne offences committed against the Crowne, dignitie, and peace of the King: as treasons, felonies, mayhem, and such like, which you may see in Bracton lib. 3. tract. 2. per totum: and in a Stawnt. treatise, intituled The pleas of the Crowne, from the first chapter to the 51. of the first booke. But either it was from the beginning, or by time it is come to passe, that he with his assistance heareth all personall actions, and reall also, if they be incident to any personall action depending before them. Vi. q. Crompt. Iurisdic. fol. 67. &c. Of this Court Bract. lib. 3. ca. 7. num. 2. This Iustice, as it seemeth, hath no Patent vnder the broad Seale. For so Crompton saith vbi supra. He is made only by Writ, which is a short one to this effect: * Regina Johanni Popham Militi salutem. Sciatis quod constituimus vos Iusticiarium nostrum capitalem, ad placita coram nobis terminandum, durante beneplacito nostro. Teste &c. And Bracton in the place now recited, speaking of the Common Pleas, saith, that sine warranto iurisdictionem non habet: which I thinke is to be understood of a Commission vnder the Great Seale. * This Court was first called the Kings Bench, because the King sat as Iudge in it, in his proper person, and it was moveable with the Court. Vi. q. An. 9. H. 3. cap. 11. More of the iurisdiction of this Court, vi. in Crompton vbi supra. Vi. Kings bench. The oath of the Iustices, see in the Statute, Ann. 18. Ed. 3. Stat. 4. Vi. Dath.

Justice of common pleas, (Iusticiarius communium placitorum) is also a Lord by his office, and is called Dominus Iusticiarius communium placitorum: and hee with his assistants originally did heare and determine all causes at the common Law, that is, all civil causes betwene common persons, as well personall as reall, for which cause it was called the Court of Common Pleas, in opposition to the pleas of the Crowne or the Kings pleas, which are speciall, and pertaining to him only. Of this and the iurisdiction hereof, vi. Cromptons Iurisdiction, fol. 91. This Court was alwaies seiled in a place, as appeareth by the Statute, q. An. 9. H. 3. cap. 11. The oath of this Iustice and his Associates, see an. 18. Ed. 3. Stat. 4. Vi. Dath. For this Court of common pleas, as I have heard, is requirable, the learnedst Lawyers of the Land (seeing they are to heare and to iudge, and determine of the difficultest and deepest points of law in cases and causes, touching mens Inheritances (of all or the most part of the subjects of the Land.)

Justice of the Forest (Iusticiarius Forestæ) sometimes called Iustice in Eyre of the Forest, is also a Lord by his office, and hath the hearing and determining of all offences, within the Kings Forest, committed against Venison or Vert. Of these there be two, whereof the one hath iurisdiction over all the Forests on this side Trent, the other, of all beyond. The chiefe point of their iurisdiction consisteth upon the articles of the Kings charter, called Charta de Foresta, made An. 9. H. 3. which was by the Barons hardly drawne from him, to the mitigation of severall cruell ordinances made by his Predecessours. Read M. Camdens Britan. See Protoforestarius. The Court where this Iustice sitteth and determineth, is called the Iustice seat of the Forest, held euerie three yeeres once, whereof you may read at large in M. Manwoods first part of Forest Lawes, pag. 121. & 154. & pag. 76. Hee is sometimes called Iustice in Eyre of the forest. See the reason in Iustice in Eyre. This is the only Iustice that may appoint a Deputie per statutum, Anno 32. H. 8. cap. 35. and on this side Trent, or on the South side.

Justices of Assise, (Iusticiarij ad capiendas Assisas) are such as were wont by speciall commission to be sent (as occasion was offered) into this or that Countie to take Assises, for the ease of the subjects. For where as these actions passe alway by Iurie, so many men might not without great hinderance be brought to London, and therefore Iustices for this purpose were by commission particularly authorized, and sent downe to them. When they come to this dignitie, they give over practise, q. Ann. 8. Ric. 2. cap. 3. but this alway to be remembered, that neither Iustice of either Bench, (nor any other) * may bee Iustice of Assise in his owne Countie, q. Ann. 8. Ric. 2. cap. 2. & ann. 33. H. 8. cap. 24. Vi. Justices of Assis.

Justices of Oyer and Terminer (Iusticiarij ad audiendum & terminandum) were Iustices deputed upon some speciall or extraordinarie occasion, to heare and determine some or more causes, q. Fitzh. in his nat. br. saith, that the commission d'oyer and terminer, is directed to certaine persons upon any great assembly, insurrection, hainous demeanour, or trespass committed. And because the occasion of granting this commission should be maturely weighed, it is provided by the statute, q. An. 2. Ed. 3. cap. 2. that no such commission ought to be granted, but that they shall be dispatched before the Iustices of the one Bench or other, or Iustices errants, except for horrible trespasses, and that by the especiall favour of the King. The forme of this commission, see in q. Fitzh. nat. br. fol. 110. Vi. Justices in Eyre.

Justices in Eyre, (Iusticiarij itinerantes) are so termed of the French (Eyre, i. iter, a journey) which is an old word, as (a grand erre, i. magnus itineribus) proverbiially spoken. The use of these in ancient time, was to send them with Commission into divers Counties, to heare such causes especially, as were termed the Pleas of the Crowne: and therefore one may imagine they were so sent abroad for the ease of the subjects, who must else have come to the Kings Bench, if the cause were too high for the Countie Court. They differed from the Iustices of Oyer and Terminer, because they (as is above said) were sent vncertainely, upon any upore or other occasion in the Countrey: but these in Eyre (as M. Gwin setteth downe in the Preface to his Reading) were sent but euerie seven yeeres once: with whom, Horne in his Mirrour of Iustices, seemeth to agree, lib. 2. and lib. 3. cap. De Iustices in Eyre, where hee also declareth what belonged to their Office. These were instituted Hen. 2. q. Camd. Brit. And Houeden, parte poster. annal. fol. 313. b. hath of them these words: Iusticiarij itinerantes constituti per Henricum secundum, i. qui diuisit regnum suum in sex partes, per quarum singulas tres Iusticiarios itinerantes constituit, quorum nomina hec sunt, &c. And my Lord Coke to the Reader, in the ninth part of his Reports, citeth out of a verie ancient and learned Treatise of the Lawes and Vtages of this Kingdome, whereby this Realme was gouerned about 1100. yeeres past, entituled by him, The Mirrour of Iustices, cap. 1. §. 3. thus: Iusticiarij Itinerantes, or Iustices in Eyre, Commissioners Itinerant, assigned to haue consufance of Plees. In aid of such Eires, the Sheriffes Turnes and Viewes of Franck-pledges are necessarie. And all those whom the good men of such Enquests did endite of a capitall offence, the Kings were wont to destroy without any answer (which vsages are yet in practise in Almaine:) But by warrant of Pirie and Mercie (because the frailtie of man cannot refrain from sinne, vnlesse God of his especiall grace giue him abstinence) it is accorded, that no Appellee nor Inditee shall be destroyed without answer.

Justices of Gaole deliuerie (Iusticiarij ad Gaolas delibandas) are such as are sent with Commission to heare and determine all causes, appertaining to such, as for any offence are cast into the Gaole, part of whose authoritie is, to punish such as let to mainprise those prisoners that by Law are not bayleable by the Statute de Finibus, q. Cap. 3. Fitzh. nat. br. fol. 251. I. These by likelihood, in ancient time, were sent to Counties upon this severall occasion. But afterward Iustices of Assise were likewise authorized to this, q. An. 4. Edw. 3. cap. 3. Their oath is all one with other of the Kings Iustices of either Bench, q. Old Abridgement of Statutes, titulo Sacramentum Iusticiariorum. Vi. Dath.

Justices of Labourers, were Iustices appointed in those times to redresse the forwardnesse of labouring men, that would either bee idle, or haue vnreasonable wages. Vi. q. An. 21. Ed. 3. cap. 1. an. 25. ciuld. cap. 8. & an. 31. ciuld. cap. 6.

Justices of Nisi prius, are all one now adayes with Iustices of Assises: for it is a common Adournement of a cause in the Common Pleas to put it off to such a day, * Nisi prius Iusticiarij venerint ad eas partes, ad capiendas Assisas: and upon this clause of Adournement, they are called Iustices of Nisi prius, as well as Iustices of Assises, by reason of the writ or action that they haue to deale in: Their Commission you may see in q. Crompt. Iurisdic. fol. 204. Vi. Justices of Assises.

Justices of triall baston, alias of trayl baston, were a kinde of Iustices appointed by K. Ed. 1. upon occasion of great disorder growne in the Realme, during his absence in the Scottish and French warres. They are called in the Old Nat. br. fol. 52. Iustices of Triall baston, but by Holinshed and Stow in Edw. 1. of Trailebaston, of trailing or drawing the staffe, as Holinshed saith. Their office was to make inquisition thorow the Realme, by the verdict of substantiall Iuries upon all Officers, as Maiors, Sheriffes, Bayliffes, Escheators, and others, touching extortion, bribes, and other such grieuances, as intrusions into other mens lands, and Barratours that used to take money for beating of men, and also of them whom they did beat: by meanes of which inquisitions many were punished by death, many by ranfome, and so the rest flying the Realme, the Land was quieted, and the King gained great riches toward the supporting of his warres. Trail-baston, both words being French, dist. a G. Treille, i. pergula, a house, arbour, a raile, or forme, such as vines runne upon: and Baston, a staffe or pole, noting thereby, that the Iustices employed in this Commission, had authoritie to proceed without any solemne iudgement Seat in any place, either compassed in with railes, or made Booth or Tent-wise, set vp with staves or poles, without more worke, wherefoer they could apprehend the malefactours they sought for. Vi. Lib. Assisarum, fol. 141. 57.

Justices of peace, (Iusticiarij ad pacem) are they that are appointed by the Kings Commission, with others, to attend the Peace in the Countie where they dwell: of whom, some upon speciall respect are made of the * Quorum, because some businesse of importance may not bee dealt in without the presence or assent of them, or one of them: they are called of the Quorum, because the King in their Commission thus chuseth or chargeth them, Quorum vos, A. B. C. D. E. F. vnum esse volumus, for the speciall trust in them reposed. Of these, q. Iustice Fitzh. as also M. Lambert, M. Crompton, and M. Dalton, of late haue written bookes of it, to their great commendation, and fruitfull benefit of the whole Realme. See also Sir Tho. Smith, de Repub. Ang. lib. 2. cap. 19. They were called * Gardians of the Peace, until the 36. yeere of K. Ed. the third, ca. 12. where they be called Iustices, q. Lamb. Eiren. lib. 4. cap. 19. pag. 578. Their Oath see also in Lamb. lib. 1. cap. 10.

Justices of Peace, &c. within Liberties, (Iusticiarij ad pacem infra libertates) be such in Cities and other corporate Townes, as those others be of any Countie, and their authoritie or power is all one within their severall precincts, q. An. 27. H. 8. cap. 25.

Justice of Peace, G. Iusticiere. I. Giustitiere, Giustitiaro. H. Iusticiere. L. Iusticiarius Pacis, Curator Pacis, Irenarcha, Irenarches. B. Urededorst. T. Friedefurst, a hyede, friede, i. pax, & bozke, fust, i. primarius. Gr. eislawdgye, abeignyn, i. pax, & appde, i. princeps, primarius scilicet pacis conseruandæ.

The Office of a Justice of Peace. Vi. Eirenarchie.

Justices, is a writ directed to the Sheriffe, for the dispatch of justice in some especiall cause, whereof his owne authoritie bee cannot deale in his Countie Court, lib. 12. cap. 18. whereupon the Writ De Excommunicato deliberando is called a Iustices in the Old Nat. br. fol. 35. Also the Writ De homine replegiando, eodem, fol. 41. Thirdly, the Writ De secunda superoneratione pasturæ, eodem, fol. 73. Kitchin fol. 74. saith, that by this Writ called Iustices, the Sheriffe may hold plees of a great summe, whereas of his ordinarie authoritie hee cannot hold plees but of summes vnder fortie shillings, q. Crompt. fol. 231. agreeeth with him. It is called a Iustices, because it is a Commission to the Sheriffe, ad iusticiandum aliquem, to doe a man right, and requirath no returne of any certifiat of what he hath done, q. Bract. lib. 4. tract. 6. cap. 13. nu. 2. maketh mention of a Iustices to the Sheriffe of London, in a case of Dower. See the New booke of Entries, Iustices.

Equites enim qui olim Imperatorem sequebantur & comitabantur, Germanice Knechte dicti sunt, a seruitour, minister, or lustie young man. Hereupon it cometh that in old written Gospels we read for Christs Disciples, Chnyts leopning Cnyhts, and elsewhere for a Client or vassall, Incnyht. And Bracton maketh mention of Radcnyhts, i. riding Knights or horsemen, who held their lands with this condition, that they should serue their Lords on horsebacke. Valla, qui proprie est Solidarius, a Souldier. Why a Knight should be termed in Latine Miles, a Souldier, may be for that in the declining time of the Roman Empire, the denomination of Milites, i. Souldiers, was transferred to those that conuerling neere about the Princes person, bare any of the greater offices in the Princes court or traine: or rather among vs so called, for that they held lands or inheritances, as Tenants in fee by this tenure, Knights seruire, to serue in the warres: for those lands were termed Knights fees, for that they received those lands or Manours to serue them in the warres, of whom they recieued such lands: whereas others who serued for pay, were called Solidarij, Souldiers, q. Camd. Vi. plura infra in Bachelor Knights.

- c Knights of the Garter, Equites Garterij, dist. à G. lartière or lartier, i. periscelis, fascia poplitaris. It significth with vs both in diuers statutes and otherwise, one especiall Garter, being the ensigne of a great and noble Societie of Knights, called Knights of the Garter. And this is κίτιος, propter excellentiam, ac Poeta among the Grecians was Homer, among the Romans Virgil, because they were of all others the most excellent. This high Order (as appeareth by M. Camden and many others) was first instituted by that famous King Edward the Third, upon good successe in a skirmish, wherein the Kings Garter (I know not upon what occasion) was used for a token. But I know that Polydore Virgil casteth in another suspicion of the original: his grounds by his owne confession grew from the vulgar opinion: yet as it is, thus take it as I haue read it. Edward the Third, King of England, after he had obtained many great victories, King John of France, King James of Scotland, being both prisoners in the Tower of London at one time, and King Henry of Castile, the bastard expulsd, and Don Pedro restored by the Prince of Wales, and Duke of Aquitanie, called the Blacke Prince, did upon no weighty occasion first erect this Order in Anno 1350. viz. dancing with the Queene and other Ladies of the Court, took up a garter that hapned to fall from one of them: whereat some of the Lords smiling, the King said unto them, that ere it were long, he would make that Garter to be of high reputation, and shortly after instituted this Order of the Blew Garter, which every one of the Order is bound daily to weare on the left legge being richly decked with gold and precious stones, with a buckle of gold, and having these words written, or wrought upon it: * Honi soit qui mal y pense: which is, Shame take him that thinketh euill. M. Fearn in his glorie of generosities agreeth with M. Camden, and exprestly setteth downe the victories, whence this Order was occasioned. Whatsoever cause of beginning it had, it need not seeme a base originall, seeing as one saith, Nobilitas sub amore iacet, Nobilitie lies vnder loue. The order is inferiour to none in the world, consisting of * 26. martiall and heroicall Nobles, whereof the King of England is the chiefe, and the rest be either Nobles of the Realme, or * Princes of other Countries, friends and confederates with this Realme, the honour being such, as Emperors and Kings of other Nations haue desired and thankfully accepted it. He that will reade more of this, let him repaire to M. Camden, and Polidore, and M. Fern, fol. 120. * The Ceremonies of the chapter proceeding to election, of the inuestures and robes, of his installation, of his vow, with all such other obseruances, see in Sir William Segars new booke, intituled Honour militarie and ciuill, li. 2. ca. 9. fol. 65. There are depending on this honourable order * 26. poore Knights, that haue no other sustenance or meanes of liuing but the allowance of this house, which is giuen them in respect of their daily praier, to the honour of God, and (according to the course of those times) of S. George. There be also certaine Officers belonging to this Order, as namely the * Prelate of the Garter, which Office is inherent to the Bishop of Winchester for the time being, the Chancellor of the Garter, * the Register, who is * alwaies Deane of Windfour. * The principall King at armes, called Garter, quem vide in Harold, whose chiefe function is to manage and marshall their solemnities at their yearely feasts and installations. Lastly, the Vther of the Garter, which (as I haue heard) belongeth to an Vther of the Princes chamber, called Blacke rod. The site of this Colledge, is the Castle of Windesour, with the Chappell of S. George * erected by Ed. 3. and the Chapter-house in the said Castle. * Hospinian in his booke de origine & progressu Monachatus, maketh mention of this honourable Order, terming it by ignorance of our tongue, Ordinem Carceriorum Equitum, and Charteriorum Equitum: which you may reade cap. 307. as also Bernardus Girardus in his historie, lib. 15. c. 185. * Garter signifieth also the principall King at Armes among our English Harolds, Created by K. d a Knight Banneret or Banneret, fortè à T. Banner-herr, q. Banner-herr, i. vexilli militaris Dominus: factus & creatus talis post facinorè egregio partam victoriam. I. Banneretto, cavalière banderette. G. Cheualier banneret. H. Bannereto. B. Banner heer, vel Bander heer, i. vexilli dominus, master of the Banner, q. Becan. L. Eques vexillarius, Bandophorus. Gr. Bandopozes, i. banderiam ferens, quem Persæ appellabant Satrapam, hominem generosum & insignem. Which dignitie is more than an ordinarie Knight, equall with that of King James lately erected of Baronets, yet inferiour to a Baron. It was giuen at the first by the Kings of England and France to such gentlemen, that valiantly carried themselves in two royall battels, or to such as had ten vassals, and meanes to maintaine a troupe of horses at their owne charge, q. M. Skene de verb. signif. deriued this word from Banner and Rent. But M. Camden from the high Dutch Banner herres, i. Lords or masters of Banners. q. Sir Thom. Smith de Repub. Angl. lib. 1. c. 18. saith, that a Banneret is a Knight made in the fields with the ceremonies of the cutting of the point of his Standard, and making it as it were a Banner: and they being before Batcheler Knights, are now of greater degree, allowed to display their armes in a Banner in the Kings armie as Barons doe. Of creating a Knight Banneret, you may reade more in Sir William Seagar Garter his booke. M. Camden saith he cannot fetch the antiquity of these Knights from further, then King Edward the Third, when Englishmen, as he there saith, were renowned for Chivalrie. Worthy the remembrance it is, to set downe here out of Froissard the very manner and forme whereby Iohn Chandos a brave and noble Warrior in his time, was made a Banneret, what time as Edward Prince of Wales was to fight a field in the behalfe of Peter King of Castile, against Henry the bastard and the French. The said Iohn Chandos came unto the Prince, and deliuered into his hands his owne Banner folded and rolled vp, with these words: My Lord, this is my Banner, may it please you to unfold and display it, that I may aduance it in the field this day: for I haue by Gods fauour renewed sufficient thereunto. The Prince then took the banner into his hands, unfolding the same, deliuered the same unto him againe with these or such like words: Sir Iohn in the name of God, who blese this daies service of yours, beare your selfe manfully, and giue prooue what a Knight you are. Having thus received the Banner, to his companies hee cherefully went: My fellow souldiers, said he, behold there is my Banner displayed, and yours in case you defend it courageously, &c.

(1) *a Knight Baronet, Dr. Cowell affirmeth it to be all one in degree with a Knight Banneret. Baronet is mentioned, q. An. 13. R. 2. Stat. 2. ca. 1. but not hereditarie as now that of Baronet, which became a new erected distinct Title under our present Soueraigne, King James, who for certaine disbursements toward the Plantation in Vllster, created diuers into this dignitie, and made it hereditarie by his letters Patents in the Rolles to be seene thus: James by the grace of God &c. We haue ordained, erected, constituted, and created a certaine degree, state, dignity, name, and title, of a Baronet within this our Kingdome of England, to endure for ever to whom the King doth so create, to him and to the heires males of his bodie. And that he shall haue precedency, in all writings, Sessions, and Salutations, before all Knights, as well of the Bath as Knights Bachelors, as also * before all Bannerets created or hereafter to be created, except only those Knights Bannerets which shall be created under the Kings Standard, in an Armie Royall, and the King personally present, and no otherwise. And that their wives, and eldest sonnes respectfully, haue like precedence. That they shall be impeached and sued by the Addition of Baronet, and that to the name of them, and* the heires males of their bodies, in all English writings shall be added the title S I R, and their wives to haue the titles of Lady, Madame, and Dame, with a grant, that neither the king, or his successors, shall erect, ordaine, or create, within this his kingdome of England, any other degree, order, name, title, Dignitie or State, under the degree or dignitie of a Baron, that shall be superior or equall unto the degree, and dignitie of Baronets aforesaid. And further after the purposed * number of CC. made, that then the King will not create any person or persons into that degree of Baronet within the kingdome of England above that number of CC. untill some of them die or be diminished. Upon point of precedence a great controuersie grew afterward betwene these new Baronets and the Younger sonnes of Viscounts and Barons: and after the Council on both parts 3. severall daies at large heard, by his Maiestie in person * it was decreed, adiudged, and established, that the younger sonnes of Viscounts and Barons shall take place and precedence before all Baronets, * And that such Bannerets that shall be made by the Kings Maiestie his heires and successors under his or their Standard, displayed in an Armie Royall in open warre, and the King personally present, for the terme of the liues of such Bannerets, and no longer (according to the most ancient and noble institution) shall for ever hereafter, in all places and upon all occasions, take place and precedence as well before all other Bannerets whatsoever (no respect being had to the time and priority of their creation) as likewise before the younger sonnes of Viscounts and Barons, as also before all Baronets. And againe, that the younger sonnes of Viscounts and Barons, and also all Baronets, shall in all places and upon all occasions take place and precedence, before all Bannerets whatsoever, other then such as shall be made by the King himselfe, his heires and successors in person, and in such speciall case, manner, and forme as aforesaid. And that the Knights of the most honourable order of the Garter, the Priuie Counsellors of his Maiestie his heires and successors, the Master of the Court of Wards and Liveries, the Chancellor and vnder Treasurer of the Exchequer, Chancelor of the Duchie, Chiefe Iustice of the Kings Bench, the Master of the Rolles, the Chiefe Iustice of the Court of Common Pleas, the Chiefe Baron of the Exchequer, and all other the Iudges and Barons of the Coife of the said courts now, and for the time being, shall by reason of their Honourable order and imploiment of State and Iustice, haue place and precedence in all places and upon all occasions before the younger sonnes of Viscounts and Barons, and before all Baronets, any custome, use, ordinance or other thing to the contrary notwithstanding. But that no other person or persons whatsoever, under the degree of Barons of Parliament, shall take place before the said Baronets, except only before excepted; And the eldest Son of Viscounts and Barons, and others of higher degree, whereof no question ever was or can be made. And in the same Decree, his Maiestie further granted to Knight the present Baronets, which were then no Knights, and that * the heires males of the bodie of every Baronet, hereafter when he shall be of the age of XXI. yeares, upon knowledge thereof giuen to the Lord Chamberlaine of the Household, or Vice-Chamberlaine for the time being, or in their absence any other officer attending on his Maiesties person, shall be Knighted by his Maiestie his heires and successors. And that the Baronets and their Descendants, shall and may beare either in a Canton in their coat of Armes or in a Scutcheon at their election, the Armes of Vllster, that is, a field Argent, a hand Gules. And also that the Baronets for the time being and the heires males of their bodies shall haue place in the Armies of the Kings Maiestie, his Heires and Successors, in the gresse, neere about the Royall Standard of the King, his Heires and Successors, for the defence of the same.

f *Knights of the Bath. G. cheualiers des bains (Milites balnei, vel de balneo) are the order of Knights made within the lifts of the Bath, girded with a Sword, in the ceremonies of his creation, q. Ferns glorie of Generosities, pag. 105. These are spoken of, q. An. 8. Ed. 4. cap. 2. But I haue heard that these Knights were so called of a Bath into the which (after they had bene shaued and trimmed by a Barber) they entred, and thence, the night before they were Knighted, being well bathed, were taken againe by two Esquires, commanded to attend them, dried with fine linnen clothes, and so apparelled in an Hermits gray weed, with a hood, and a linnen coife, and booted with ball, and led thorow many solemn Ceremonies, viz. Confessing their sinnes, watching and praying all night in a Church or Chappell, * as though they would begin their warfare in employing their seruice for God especially, with many other, to the order of Knight-hood the next day. So that by the same reason, these seemed to be termed Knights of the Bath: other Knights made out of the field in these daies, are called * Knights of the Carpet, because in receiving their order, they commonly kneele vpon a Carpet.*

f-2 *Knights of the order of S. Iohn of Jerusalem (Milites S. Iohannis Hierosolymitani) * were otherwise called the Knights of the Rhodes, being an order of Knight-hood, that had beginning about the yeere of the Lord, 1120. Honorius then Pope of Rome, q. Callistus de gloria mundi, parte 9. Consider. 4. and M. Fern, in his glorie of Generosities, pag. 127. They had their primarie foundation and chiefe abode first in Ierusalem, and then in Rhodes, where many of them liued vnder their Principall, called the Mr. of Rhodes: untill they were expelled thence by the Turke, An. 1523. * Since which time, their chiefe seat is at Malta, where they haue done great exploits against the Infidels, but especially in the yeere 1595. These, though they had their beginning and especiallest abode first at Hierusalem, and next in Rhodes, yet they increased both in number and reuenues, liuing after the order of the Friers, vnder the rule of St. Augustine, and were dispersed into France, Spaine, Campanie, England, and Ireland. Of these mention is made in the Stat. q. An. 25. H. 8. cap. 2. An. 26. eiusd. cap. 2. And it appeareth that they in England had one generall Prior, that had the gouernment of the whole order within England and Scotland, q. Reg. Orig. fol. 20. b. But toward the end of Henry the eight his daies, they in England and Ireland being found to adhere to the Bishop of Rome against the King, were suppressed, and their lands and goods referred by Parliament to the Kings disposition, q. An. 32. H. 8. cap. 24. The occasion, and the propagation of this order more especially described, you may reade in the Treatise entituled the Booke of Honor and Armes, lib. 5. cap. 18. written by M. Rich. Iohnes.*

Knights of the Temple, otherwise called Templars, Templarii, was an order of Knight-hood, created by Gelasius the Pope, about the yeere of our Lord, 1117. and so called, because they dwelt in a part of the buildings belonging to the Temple. These in the beginning dwelling not farre from the sepulchre of the Lord, entertained Christian strangers and Pilgrimes, charitably, and in their armour led them thorow the Holy-land, to view such things, as there were to be seene, without feare of Infidels aduancing. This order continuing and increasing by the space of two hundred yeeres, was farre spread in Christendome, and namely here in England. But at the last, the chiefe of them at Ierusalem, being (as some men say) found to fall away to the Sarazens from Christianitie, and so abound in many vices, the whole order was suppressed by Clemens Quintus, which was about King Edward the first daies, and their substaunce giuen partly to the Knights of the Rhodes, and partly to other Religious, q Cassan. de gloria mundi, part. 9. Confid. 5. and see q An. 1. Ed. 1. cap. 42. Others write, that in truth their destruction grew from cleaving to the Emperour, against the Pope of Rome, whosoeuer was pretended, q Ioach. Steph. de Iurisd. lib. 4. cap. 10. num. 18. See Templars.

* Knights of Calatrava in Spaine vnde.

(t) i f Knights of the order of Calatrava in Spaine, which weare a red crosse on the left side of their breast, or vpper garment, were first instituted and created by Don Alonso, the ninth King of Spaine. Vpon this occasion, that whereas Calatrava was a Towne of importance and strength in Spain, and won by the said King from the Moores, first he gaue the Towne to the Knights of the Temple, that they should hold it, and defend it, which they did for diuers yeeres; but they hearing that the Moores had gathered a great armie to come against it, they left the defence thereof, and gaue it vp into the hands of Don Sancho King, who succeeded Don Alonso, who made a publike Proclamation to giue Calatrava in iure hereditario, to whosoeuer Cauallero or rico hombre, that would take the defense thereof; but none appearing till Abbat Raymond undertooke it, the Archbishop of Toledo aiding him with money and men, and so fortified the Towne, that the Moores had little hope of getting it, desisted from that enterprize: and certaine Caualleros, that went in devotion in succour of Calatrava, remained there to serue God, vnder the order of Cistel, with decent habite and rule, hauing power to exercise Militarie discipline. Pope Alexander the third allowed of this order, q An. 1164. q Grandezas de España, fol. 195.

Hen. 6. cap. 2. & An. 1. H. 5. cap. 1. vpon the Kings Writ, to be sent to the Parliament, and there by their counsell to assist the common proceedings of the whole Realme. * These, when euery man that had a Knights fee, were customarily constrained to be a Knight, were of necessitie to be milites gladio cincti, for so runneth the tenour of the Writ at this day, q Crompt. Iurisd. fol. 1. But now there being but few Knights, in comparison of former times, and many men of great living in euery Countie, Custome beareth that Esquires may be chosen to this Office, so that they be resident within the Countie. For the obseruations in the choice of these Knights, see the Statutes, and the New booke of Entries, verbo Parliament, num. 1. Bachelor

o f Bachelor Knights. Vi. sub voce Bachelor. Vi. etiam a Knight, cum alijs linguis: but here thus much as touching these Knights, who simply without any addition be called Knights, whosoeuer they are in order ranged last, yet by institution they be first, and of greatest antiquitie. For as the Romans, a gowned Nation, gaue vnto them that were entering into mans estate, togam virilem, a virile or plaine gowne without welt or guard: euen so the Germans our Ancestors, bestowed vpon their young men, whom they iudged meet to manage Armes, armour and weapons, which Cornelius Tacitus will informe you of, in these words: The manner was not for any one to take Armes in hand, before the State allowed him sufficient for martiall seruice, and then in the very assemblie and Councell either some one of the Princes, or the father of the young man (which young man they termed * knecht) or some of his kinsfolke did furnish him with a Shield and a Haueline: This with them standeth in stead of a virile gowne, and this is the first honour done to youth: before this, they seeme to be but part of a priuate house, but now within a while members of a Common-weale. And seeing that such militarie young men, they termed in their language (which is the mother of ours) knechts, from them I deeme the original of name and institution also ought to be fetched, as from a Noble and most ancient Nation. This was the first and most simple manner of creating a Knight: this the Lombards, this the Franckes, now French, this our Countymen all descending out of Germanie in old time used. * Paulus Diaconus lib. 1. cap. 22. reporteth thus among the Lombards, this is the custome that the Kings sonne diueth not with his Father, except hee receiue Armes and Knight-hood before, from some King of forraigne Nation, and * Io. Salisburiensis in his Polycraton, writeth thus, A solemne custome was taken vp and vsed, that the very day when one was to be honoured with the girdle of Knight-hood, he should solemnely goe to the Church, and by laying and offering his sword vpon the Altar, vow himselfe (as it were) by making a solemne profession to the seruice of the Altar, that is to say, promise perpetuall seruice, and obsequious dutie vnto the Lord. * Peter of Blois also writeth thus, Epist. 94. At this day young Knights and Souldiers receiue their Sword from the Altar, that they might professe themselves Sonnes of the Church, and to haue taken the Sword for the defence of the Poore, for punishment and reuenge of Malfactours, and deliuey of their Countrey. But in proceffe of time (saith he) it is turned cleane contrarie. For in these daies, since they are become adorned with the Knights cincture, presently they arise and rage, &c. And for the ceremonie to be * girt with a Sword, it may seeme to haue proceeded from the militarie discipline of the Romans, because as they deemed it unlawful to fight with their enemy, before they were bound to their militarie oath, by a drawne sword: euen so our forefathers thought they might not goe to warfare lawfully, before they were by this ceremonie lawfully authorised: according to which we reade that William Rufus, King of England, was dubbed Knight by Lanfrank the Archbishop. * Afterwards Kings were wont to send their sonnes vnto the neighbour Princes to receiue Knight-hood at their hands: thus was our K. Henry the second sent vnto David K. of Scots, and Malcolme, K. of Scots, vnto our K. Henry the second, and our K. Edward the first, vnto the K. of Castile, to take of them militarie or virile Armes, for these termes and phrases they vsed in that Age for the Creation of a Knight: Then it was also, that besides the Sword and Girdle, * gilt Spurs were added for more ornament: whereupon at this day they are called in Latine Equites Aurati: moreover, they had the priuiledge to vse and weare a Signet, which before they were dubbed Knight, in those daies, they could not do, as may be gathered out of Abendon booke. In Ages ensuing, Knights were made by their wealth and state of living: For they which had a great Knights fee, that is, six hundred and fourescore Akers of land, claimed as their right, the ornament and badges of Knight-hood, nay rather vnder * H. 3. they were compelled to be Knights, as many as in the reueneues of their Land, as they then went 15 li. by the yeere, to the end, England, as well as Italy, might be strengthened with Chivalrie, and they that would not, or were not able to maintaine the honour of Knight-hood, should fine for it, and pay a peece of money, this was an Edict by the K. in the yeare 1256. Hence it is that in the K. Records, we meet so often with this; For respit of Knight-hood, A. de N. I. H. &c. Also such like presentments from the Iurors and sworne Enquest, as this, A. de D. boldeth an entire and whole fee, is at full age, and not yet Knight, therefore in misericordia, that is, to be fined at the Kings pleasure. Vi. infra in Knights fee. * The manner of dubbing Knights in these our daies, be that receiue this dignity kneecleth downe, then the King with his sword drawn, slightly smiteth him on the shoulder, speaking to him these words withall in French, Sois Cheualier au nom de Dieu, that is, Be thou a Knight in the name of God; and afterwards be saith moreover, Auancéz Cheualier, Arise Sir Knight; this Knight-hood with our Ancestours was esteemed an excellent and glorious degree, as a noble reward to braue minded men, and such as desired glorie and honour, then kept they carefully faith and troth, and it was sufficient if they undertooke or promised ought * vpon the faith of a Knight, as also yet to this day vpon the faith of a souldier, they were then farre from base game and lucre, &c. What manner of payment or aid is to be leuied for Knights fees, when the Prince, the Kings eldest sonne, is to be made Knight, and inuested into this honour, &c. see something thereof in the beginning of this Dictionary, the word f Wyde, the rest I leaue to others to write of, &c. When they had so farre offended, that being to suffer death for the offence, * they were first dispoiled of their Ensignes, and of their degree, viz. their militarie Girdle vngirted; their Sword taken away, their Spures cut off with a hatchet, their Gantlets plucked from them, their Escucheon of their Armes reuerfed, like as to be degrading of the * Ecclesiasticall order, all the Ecclesiasticall ornaments, Booke, Chalice, and such like are taken away. q Camden saith, That in the * Kings Records are read the names of Knights, of Bachelors, and of Valeffs, of the Earle of Glocester, and others, whereupon there be who would haue Bachelors called of the French, Bas-Cheualiers, Low Knights, or Knights of the lowest degree, others of Bataillér, to bataille or fight, de quo, Vi. But Sir Th. Smith in his Repub. Anglib. 1. cap. 18. rateth it at fortie pounds. And I finde in the Statute for Knights, q An. 1. Ed. 2. cap. 1. that such as had twentie pounds in fee, or for terme of life per annum, might be compelled to be Knight, de quo, Vi. supra in bachelor Knights. q M. Stow in his Annals, pag. 285. saith, That there were found in England at the time of the Conquerour 60211. Knights fees: others say, 60215. whereof the Religious houses before their suppression were possessed of 28015. * Knights fee is sometime used for the rent that a Knight payeth for his fee to his Lord, of whom he holdeth. And this is an vncertaine summe, some holding by fortie shillings the shield, some but twentie shillings, as appeareth by q Bract. lib. 5. tract. 1. cap. 2.

bat in fando & pronunciando, hec tria verba, Do, Dico, Addico: Da-bat actionem: dicebat ius: Addicebat rem res quam homines. The Romans distinguished the daies in whole Court or Leete daies: halfe Court daies, and no Leete daies. These daies were called Fasti, à fando, from speaking, because upon those daies which were Fasti, the Prætor or chiefe Iustice might lawfully keepe Court, and administer Iustice, which was not done without the speaking of these three words: Do, Dico, Addico, the matters and the men: quod ad Ety. alius repetitum, Vi. infra in Leete.

b Leete (Leta) is otherwise called a Law-day. It seemeth to come from the Saxon, Lethe, which as appeareth by the lawes of King Edward, set out by M. Lamb. num. 34. was a Court or iurisdiction above the Wapentake or hundred, comprehending three or foure of them, otherwise called Thryhing, and contained the third part of a Prouince or Shire.

Smith, de Repub. Ang. lib. 2. cap. 18. saith, that * Leet or Law-day is all one, and saith, Law in the old Saxon tongue, was called Lant or Lage, and so by corruption changing Lant or Lage into Leete and Law-day. These iurisdiccions, one and other be now abolished, and swallowed up in the Countie Court, except they be held by prescription, ¶ Kitch.

fol. 6. or Charter in the nature of a Franchise. The libertie of Hundreds is rare, but many Lords, together with their Courts Baron, haue likewise Leet adioyned, and thereby to enquire of such transgressions, as are subiect to the enquire and correction of the Court: whereof you may reade your fill in Kitchin, from the beginning of his Booke, to the fift Chapter: and Briton, cap. 28. But this Court, in whose Manour soever it be kept, is accounted the Kings Court, because the authoritie thereof, is originally belonging to the Crowne, and thence deuied to inferiour persons, ¶ Kitch. fol. 6. Justice Dyer saith, that this Leete was first deuied from the Sheriffes Turn. fol. 64. And it enquireth of all offences vnder high treason, committed against the Crowne and dignitie of the King: though it cannot punish many, but must certifie them to the Iustices of the Assise, per stat. an. 1. Ed. 3. cap. vlt. Kitch. fol. 8.

- 7580 * Littleton, was a famous and learned Lawyer of this Land, living in the daies of Edw. 4. as appeareth by Stawnf. prerog. ca. 21. f. 72. and as M. Camden saith, Littleton, alias Westeote the famous Lawyer, Justice of the Kings Bench, in the time of K. Edw. 4. to whose Treatise of Tenures the Students of our Common Law are no lesse beholden, then the Civilians to Iustianians Institutes: which booke * Hotoman in his Commentarie de verbis feudalibus, verbo Fœdum, thus commendeth: Stephanus Pasquierius, excellenti vir ingenio, & inter Parisienses caudicos dicendi facilitate prestans, libellum mihi Anglicanum Littletonum dedit, quo Feudorum Anglicorum Iura exponuntur, ita incondite, absurdè, & incoherenter scriptum, ut facile appareat verum esse, quod * Polydorus Virgilius in Anglica historia scribit, stultitiam in eo libro cum malitia & calumniandi studio certare. * To the ignorance of the one, and false accusation or surmise of the other, the Lo. Coke, thus answereth, in his tenth Epistle to the Reader, before his 10. part, or last Tome yet extant of his learned Reports, in these words: Littletons tenures, a booke of sound and exquisite learning, comprehending much of the marrow of the Common Law, written and published by Thomas Littleton, a grave and learned Iudge of the Common pleas, sometimes of the Inner Temple, wherein he had great furtherance by * Sir Iohn Prifor, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, a famous and expert Lawyer, and other the Sages of the Law, who flourished in those daies. Of Hotoman and his author I may justly say, and will say no more: Volentes esse legis doctores, non intelligentes neque quæ loquuntur, neque de quibus affirmant: And therefore let vs leave them among the number of those, qui vituperant quæ ignorant, & Coke.

7802 * Mainour, Manour, Mainoure, or Maner, dict. à G. (Ma-nière) the manner, It signifieth in the Common Law when a theefe hath stollen, and is followed with Hue & Crye, and taken with the manner, that is, having the thing stolne about him, that is called the Mainour: and so we say when we finde one doing of an unlawfull Act, that wee tooke him with the Mainour, or Manner. Vi. Bacberend. It was presented, that a theefe was deliuered to the Vicount, together with the Mainour: and thirdly, q. Stawnf. pl. Coron. If a man be indicted, that hee feloniously stole the goods of another, where, in truth, they bee his owne goods, and the goods be brought into the Court as the mainour, and it be demanded of him, what he saith to the goods, & he disclaime them, though he be quitted of the felonie, he shall lose the goods. And againe, fol. 149. If the defendant were taken with the manour, and the manour be carried to the Court, they in ancient times would arraigne him upon the manour, without any appeale or inditement. I finde this word used in the Old Nat. br.
fol. 110. in this sort: where a man maketh a thing by mainour, or leuying, or estopping, in such case he shall haue Assise: where it signifieth handy-labour, and is but an abbreviation of the French Main-ouvrerie, or rather Manouvrerie, i. workmanship with the hands.
7803 * Mainpernable, & Mainpernours. Vi. Mainprise.
7804 * Mainprise (Manu captio) is compounded of two French words (Main, i. manus, a hand, and prins, i. capius, taken, as it were taken into their hands. It signifieth in our Common Law the taking or receiving a man into friendly custodie, that otherwise is or might bee committed to prison, and so upon securitie giuen for his forth coming at a day assigned: And they that doe thus undertake for any, * are called Mainpernours, because they doe receive him into their hands, q. Stawnf.
pl. Coron. fol. 178. Of this sort is the word * Mainpernable, which sig-nifieth him that hath committed such an offence, as by Law bee may bee thus bailed: For in many cases a man is not mainpernable: whereof see Broke, tit. Mainprise, per totum: & Fitzh. nat. br. fol. 249. & seq. M. Man-wood in the first part of his Forest Lawes, pag. 167. maketh a great difference betweene Bayle and Mainprise. For hee that is mainprised (quoth he) is alwayes said to be at large, and to goe at his owne libertie out of ward, after the day is set to mainprise, untill the day of his appearance.
But otherwise it is, where a man is let to baile to foure or two men, by the Lord Iustice in eyre of the Forest, untill a certaine day. For there hee is alwayes accounted by the Law to be in their ward and custodie for the time. And they may, if they will, keepe him in ward, or in prison all that time, or otherwise at their will. So that hee that is so bayled, shall not bee said by the Law to be at large, or at his owne libertie. Vi. Bayle.

b. * Maintenance (Manutentio vel Manutentia) in our Law signifieth an upholding of a cause or person, metaphorically drawne from the succouring of a young child, that learneth to goe by ones hand, of main in French, i. a hand, and tenir, to hold. In our Common Law it is used in the euill part, for him that secondeth a cause depending in suit betwene others, either by lending of money, or making friends for either partie, toward his helpe, q. An. 32. H. 8. cap. 9. And when a maus act in this kinde is by Law accounted Maintenance, and when not, Vi. Broke titu-le Maintenance, and Kitchin, fol. 202. & seq. and Fitzh. Nat. br. fol.

Crompt. Jurisd. fol. 41. His title in his Patents (as I have heard) is Clericus parva bagæ, custos rotulorum & domus conuerforum. This * Domus conuerforum, is the place where the Rolles are kept, so called, because the Jewes in ancient times, as they were any of them brought to Christianitie, were bestowed in that house separately from the rest of their Nation, by King Henry the third, who erected this house, J. Camd. and King Edward the third appointed it afterward for Rolles and Records to be kept therein; and so of keeping such Rolles and Records, at this day it is still called the Rolles, J. Camd. Sir Thomas Smith, lib. 2. cap. 10. de Repub. Angl. saith that hee might not vnsafely be called * Custos Archiuorum. He seemeth to haue the bestowing of the Offices of the six Clerkes, J. - r Maister of the Kings Muster, is a Martiall Officer in all royall Armes most necessarie, as well for the maintaining of the Forces complete, well armed and treyned, as also for preuention of such frauds; as otherwise may exceedingly waste the Princes treasure, and extremely weaken the Forces. He hath the oversight of all the Captaines and Bands, and ought to haue at the beginning deliuered unto him by the Lord General, perfect Lists and Rolles of all the Forces, both horse and foot, Officers, &c. with the Rates of their allowances signed by the Lord General, for his direction and discharge, in signifying warrants for their full pay. This Officer is mentioned in the Statute, J. An. 2. Ed. 6. cap. 2. and Muster-master generall, J. An. 35. Elizab. cap. 4. who so desireth to reade more of him, let him haue recourse to Maister * Digs his Stratagickos.
- s Maister of the Wardrobe (Magister Garderobae) is a great and principall officer in Court, hauing his habitation and dwelling-house belonging to that Office, called the Wardrobe neere Puddle-wharfe in London. He hath the charge and custodie of all former Kings and Queenes auncient Robes, remaining in the Tower of London, and all hangings of Arras, Tapestry, or the like, for his Maiesties houses, with the bedding remaining in standing Wardrobes, as Hampton Court, Richmond, &c.

He hath also the charge and deliuering out of all either veluet or scarlet allowed for lueries, to any of his Maiesties seruants of the Priuie Chamber, or others. Mention is made of this Officer, J. Anno 39. Elizab. cap. 7.

t Maister of the Kings Household (Magister Hospitij Regis) is in his iust title called grand Master, or great Master of the Kings household, and beareth the same office that he did, that was wont to be called Lord Steward of the Kings most honourable household, J. Anno 32. H. 8. cap. 39. Whereby it appeareth, that the name of this Office was then changed, and Charles Duke of Suffolke, President of the Kings Council, then enjoying that Office, was so to be called euer after, so long as hee should possesse that Office. Vi. Greene cloth.

u Maister of the Jewell-house, is an Officer in the Kings household, of great credit, being allowed bouge of Court, that is, closet diet for himselfe and the inferior Officers, viz. 7876 Manour (Manerium) dict. à Gal. (Manoir, i. domicilium, habitation.) q. M. Skene, de verb. signific. verbo Manerium, faith, Manerium, quasi Manurium, because it is laboured with handie worke by the Lord himselfe, vel alias à manendo, quod remaneat heredi, vel quod ibi manet & residet hæres. It signifieth in our Common Law, a Rule or Gouernment, which a man hath ouer such as hold land within his fee.
Touching the originall of these maners, it seemeth that in the beginning there was a certaine compasse or circuit of ground, granted by the King vnto some man of worth (as a Baron or such like) for him and his heires to dwell vpon, and to exercise some iurisdiction, more or lesse, within that compasse, as he thought good to graunt, performing him such seruices, and paying such yearely rent for the same, as he by his graunt required : and that afterward this great man parcelled his land to other me-ner men, enuyning them againe such seruices and rents, as he thought good : and by that meanes, as he became tenant to the King, so the inferiours became tenants to him. See Perkins reseruations, 670. and * Andrew Horns booke, intituled, The Mirrour of Iustices, lib. 1. cap. du Roy Alfred. See the definition of a Maner, Fulb. fol. 18. And this course of benefitting or rewarding their Nobles for good seruice, haue our Kings borrowed from the Emperours of Rome : according to this our custome, all lands holden in fee throughout France, are diuided into Fiefz, and Arrier-fiefz : into fiefs or Knights fee, and mesu fees, whereof the former are such as are immediately granted by the King : The second, such as the Kings feudataries doe againe grant to others, q. Gregor. Synagm. lib. 6.
cap. 5. num. 3. But the changeableness of mans estate, and the mutabilitie of time, hath brought to passe, that those great men, or their po-steritie, haue alienated these Manfions and Lands, and others that had none, haue by their wealth purchased many of them. And againe, that many for capitall offences, haue forfeited them to the Kings, and that thereby they still remaine in the Crowne, or are bestowed againe vpon others : so that at these daies many be in the hands of meane men, such as by their skill in Law, or Physicke, by Merchandize, &c. haue gathered wealth, and enabled themselves to purchase them of those that by descent received them from their Ancestours, in greater abundance than wit to keepe them. In these dayes a Maner rather signifieth the iurisdiction and Royaltie incorporeall, than the land or site. For a man may haue a * Maner in grosse (as the Law termeth it) that is, the right and interest of a Court Baron, with the perquisites thereunto belonging : and another, or others, haue euerie foot of the land thereunto belonging, q. Kitchen, fol. 4. Brooke, hoc titulo per totum. Bract. lib. 4. cap. 31. num. 3. diui-deth manerium, in capitale & non capitale. See Bract. lib. 5. tract. 5.

cap. 28. num. 1. Vi. fee. The new Expositor of Law-termes, faith, that Manour is a thing compounded of diuers things, as of a house, land, earable, pasture, meadow, wood, rent, aduouzen, Court Baron, and such like. And this ought to be by long continuance of time, to the contrarie whereof mans memorie cannot discerne. For at this day, a Mannour cannot be made, because a Court Baron cannot now be made, and a Man-nour cannot be without a Court Baron, and Suters or Free-holders, two at the least, for if all the Free-holders, except one Escheate to the Lord, or if he purchase all except one, there his Mannour is gone, for that it cannot be a Mannour without a Court Baron, and a Court Baron cannot be holden but before Suters, and not before one Suter, and therefore where but one Free-hold, or Free-holder is, there cannot be a Mannour properly, although in common speech it may be called a Mannour.

c a Manour-house. G. Manoir, Manfion. I. Magione, Mansione. L.

(+) 7876-2 a Manqueller, i. a Murderer.

7877 Manfion (Manfio) of manendo, Bract. lib. 5. cap. 28. * Manfion.

num. 1. is a dwelling, consisting of one or more houses, without any neighbour. And yet he granteth forthwith, that Manfio Manfioni possit esse vicinata. It is most commonly used for the Lords chiefe dwelling house within his fee, whether it haue neighbours adioyning or not, otherwise called the Capitall Mesuage, q. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 26. or the chiefe manner place. Manfio amongst the ancient Romans, was a place appointed for the lodging of the Prince or Souldiers, in their iourney, furnished with conuenient entertainment by the neighbours adioyning. And in this sense you may reade primam mansionem, for the first nights lodging, and so in order. It is probable that this word * (Manfion) doth in some construction signifie so much land, as Beda calleth * Familiam, in his Ecclesiasticall historie. For M. Lamb. in his explic. of Saxon words, ver. Hida terræ, faith, that which he calleth familiam, others sibienc call * Manentem vel Manfam : you may reade * Manfus & Manfum in the Feudists, which as Hotoman faith, in verbis feudalibus, Est neque domus, neque area, neque hortus, sed ager certimodi & mensuræ, abide, or a plough-land, and Oxe-gang, &c. And Call. de cons. Burg. pa. 1195. defineth it thus : Manfus est, quantum quis cum vno pari boum laborare possit : Reade M.
Skene de verb. sig. verbo Manfus : you may reade the Latine word * (Manfia) in the same signification, as namely in the Charter, granted by King Ranulphus, to Ruchin the Abbot of Abingdon, which Sir Edw.

* The manner of Manumission.

c a Manumission (Manumissio) is a freeing of a villein or slave out of his bondage. The forme of this in the time of the Conquerour, M. Lamb. in his ap. x. v. o. p. d. a. fol. 126. setteth downe in these words: Si quis velit seruum suum liberum facere, tradat cum Vicecomiti, per manum dexteram, in pleno Comitatu, & quicum illum clamare debet a iugo seruitutis suae per manumissionem, & ostendat ei liberas portas & vias, & tradat illi libera arma, scilicet lanceam & gladium: & deinde liber homo efficitur. Some also were wont to bee manumitted by charter of Manumission. Vi. Broke, tit. Villenage, fol. 305. The new Expōitor of Law-terms maketh two kindes of manumission: one expressed, another implied. * Manumission expressed is, when the Lord maketh a deed to his villein to enfranchise him by this word (Manumittere.) The manner of manumitting in old time was thus; The Lord, in presence of his neighbours, took the bondman by the head, saying, I will that this man be free, and therewith shewed him forward out of his hands. Manumission implied is, when the Lord maketh an obligation for payment of money to him at a certaine day, or sheweth him where hee might enter without suit, or granteth him an annuities, or leasehold land vnto him by deed, for yeares, or for life, and such like, in diuers such cases the villein is made free. Vi. Emancipation.

 8084 * Meshin (Medius) seemeth to come from the French (Maine, i. minor nati, younger by birth, or a younger brother.) It significth in our Common Law, him that is Lord of a Manour, and thereby hath tenants holding of him; yet holding himselfe of a superiour Lord. And therefore it seemeth not absurdly to be drawne from the French (Maine) because the Lordship is created after the higher, whereof he holdeth. Meshin also significth a Writ, which lieth where there is Lord, Meshin, and Tenant: the Tenant holdeth of the Meshin by the same seruices, whereby the Meshin holdeth of the Lord, and the Tenant of the Meshin, is disstrained by the superiour Lord, for that his seruice or rent, which is due to the Meshin, q Fitz. Nat.

8183 * Misadventure, or Misadventure, cometh of the French Mesadventure, i. infortunium. In our Common Law it hath an speciall si-gnification for the killing of a man, partly by negligence, & partly by chance.
As if one thinking no harme, disolately throweth a stone, wherewith he killeth another: or shooteth an arrow, &c. For in this case he com-mitteth not felonie, but onely loseth his goods, and hath pardon of course for his life, q. Stawf. pl. cor. lib. 1. cap. 8. q. Brit. cap. 7. distinguish-eth betwene Aventure and Misadventure. Aventure hee maketh to be meere chance, as if a man being upon or neere the water, bee taken by some sudden sicknesse, and so fall in, and is drowned: or into the fire, and bee burned to death. Misadventure, hee maketh, where a man cometh to his death by some outward violence, as the fall of a tree, or of a gate, the running of a cart-wheele, the stroke of a horse, or such like. So that Misadventure in Stawfords opinion is construed somewhat more largely than Briton vnderstandeth it. q. West part. 2. symb. tit. Indirement, sect.
48, maketh homicide casuall, to be meere casuall or mixt. Homicide by meere chance, hee defineth sect. 49. to be, when a man is slaine by meere fortune, against the minde of the killer: as if one hewing, the axe stiech off the haft, and killeth a man. And this is all one with Brittons Misadventure. Homicide by chance mixed he defineth, sect. 50. to be, when the killers ignorance or negligence is ioyned with the chance: as if a man top trees by an high way side, by which many usually trauell, and cast downe a bough, not giuing warning, &c. by which bough a man passing by is slaine.

8193 a Misdoubt. Vi. to Mistrust.

8194 * Mise, Misa, is a French word, signifying as much as Expense, in Latine, and the Latine word, Misa, is so used in Kitchin, fol.
144. and in West, part. 2. Symbol. tit. Proceedings in Chancery, sect. 21. F. It is used, An. 2. & 3. Edw. 6. cap. 36. for a summe of money paid by the Kings tenants, in certaine Counties in Wales, according to their seuerall customes. In the Stat. 33. H. 8. cap. 13. it is used plurally, for certain customarie gratuities sent to the Lord Marchers of Wales, by their tenants, at their first coming to their lands. And An. 4. & 5. Phil.
& Mar. cap. 11. Mise is used in an action of right or propertie, for the point whereupon the parties proceed to trial, either by Assise or bataille: as issue is in an action personall: if the Mise be vpon battell, q. Littleton, fol.
102. and in the Old nat. Br. fol. 2. you haue these words: Know yee, that this writ hath but two issues: that is to say, joyning the Mise vpon the Meere, and that is to put himselfe into the great Assise of our Soue-raigne Lord the King, or to ioyne bataille. See An. 37. Edw. 3. cap. 16.
To ioyne the Mise vpon the Meere, is as much to say, as to ioyne the Mise vpon the cleare right, and that in more plaine termes is nothing else, but to ioyne vpon this point, whether hath the more right, the Tenant, or Demandant, q. Littleton, lib. 3. cap. 8. fol. 101. b. This word in some other place is used for a participle, signifying as much as (cast, or put vpon) in English, which appeareth by my Lo. Cokes Report in Saffins case, vol.
6. fol. 124. a.

b a Misericordia, is used in the Common Law, for an arbitrarie punishment, q. Bract. lib. 4. tract. 5. cap. 6. in these words: Item si quis in misericordiam incidit pro decessina, non remanebit misericordia exigenda, si ille qui amiserit, quas fuerit conuictionem. Kitchin, fol. 78. out of Glanville, saith thus, Est autem misericordia, quia quis per iuramentum legalium hominum amerciatu est, ne aliquid de suo hono-rabili contentamento amittat. Which saying you haue in a manner, word for word, in Glanville, lib. 9. cap. 11. Fitzh. saith, that it is called Misericordia, because it ought to be verie moderate, and rather lesse than the offence, according to the tenure of the great Charter, cap. 14. This saith Fitzh. in his Nat. br. in the writ, De moderata misericordia, fol. 75. A. I. Mi-sericordia, is to be quit of Misericors, that is, to be discharged of all manner of Amercements, that a man may fall into within the forest, q. Crompt.

8213 to Miſpriſion, (Miſpriſio) cometh of the French (Meſpris, i. ſaſtidium, contemptus, contempt, deſpiſing.) It ſignifieth in our Common Law, neglect, or negligence, or ouer-ſight. As for example, * Miſpriſ-ion of treaſon, or of felonie, is a neglect, or light account ſhewed of treaſon or felonie committed, by not reuealing it, when we know it to be committed, q. Stawne. pl. cor. lib. 5. cap. 19. which reade at large: or by letting any perſon committed for treaſon or felonie, or ſuſpicion of either, to goe before he be indicted. Alſo * Miſpriſion of Clerkes, q. An. 8. H.
6. cap. 15, is a neglect of Clerkes in writing or keeping Records.
Thirdly, An. 14. Ed. 3. cap. 6. Stat. 1. by miſpriſion of Clerkes, no pro-ceſſe ſhall be admitted. * Miſpriſion of treaſon, is alſo the concealment, or not diſcloſing of knowne treaſon, for the which the offendours are to ſuffer imprisonment during the Kings pleaſure, loſe their goods, and the profits of their lands, during their liues, q. Crompt. in his Juſtice of peace, cap. Miſpriſion of felonie, fol. 40. q. Weſt part. 2. ſymb. tit.
Indictments, ſect. 63. in fine. * Miſpriſion of felonie, ſeemeth onely fi-nable by the Juſtices, before whom the partie is attained, q. Crompt.
Juſtice of Peace, vbi ſupra. The Juſtices of the Common Place, haue power to aſſeſſe fines and amerciaments, vpon perſons offending for miſ-priſions, contempts, or negligences, for not doing or miſ-doing any thing, in or concerning fines, q. Weſt. part. 2. ſymb. tit. Fines, ſect. 133.
Juſtices of Aſſiſe ſhall amend the defaults of Clerkes miſpriſing of a ſyllable or letter in writing, q. Crompt. Juſt. fol. 238. But it is to be noted, that other faults may be accounted miſpriſions of treaſons or felonie, becauſe certaine later Statutes doe inflict that puniſhment vpon them, that of old haue bene inflicted vpon miſpriſions: whereof you haue an example, q. Ann. 14. Elizab. cap. 3. of ſuch as coine forren coines, not current in this Realme, and of their procurers, aiders, and abettors. And ſee the new Expoſition of Law-terms. * Miſpriſion borrowed, peremptorily to be the creditors for ever, if the money be not paid at the day agreed upon. And the creditor holding Land or Tenement upon this bargain, is in the mean time called tenant in mortgage. It seemeth that the cause why it is called Mortgage, is for that it standeth in doubt, whether the feoffor or the borrower, (as you may call him) will pay the money at the day appointed, or not. And if he faile to pay, then the Land which he laid in gage, vpon condition of payment of the money, is gone from him for ever, and so dead to him vpon condition. But if he pay the money, then is the gage dead to the feoffee or tenant, and for this cause called Mortuum vadium, Mortgage, & New Termes of Law.

B. Wodhand, i. mortua manus, Wode-hand, propriè dici de monachis, cum monachi iure pro mortuis habeantur, & Kil. Vi. infra.

b Mortmaine, Manus mortua. Vi. supra. It signifieth in the Common Law, an alienation of lands or tenements to any corporation, guild, or fraternitie, and their successors, as Bishops, Parsons, Vicars, &c. which may not be done without licence of the King, and the Lord of the Manor. The reason of the name proceedeth from this, as I conceive it, because the seruices and other profits due for such lands, as escheats, &c. come into a dead hand, or into such a hand as holdeth them, and is not of power to deliuer them, or anything for them, backe againe, & Magna Charta, cap. 36. & An. 7. Ed. 1. commonly called, The statute of Mortmaine, & Ann. 18. Ed. 3. stat. 3. cap. 3. & Ann. 15. R. 2. cap. 5. Polydore Virgil in the 7. booke of his Chronicles, maketh mention of this Law, and giueth this reason of the name. Et legem hanc Manum mortuam vocant, quod res semel date collegijs Sacerdotum, non utique rursus venderentur, velut mortua, hoc est, vsui aliorum mortalium in perpetuum ademptæ essent. Lex diligenter seruatur, sic ut nihil possessionum ordini sacerdotali à quoquam detur, nisi Regio permittit. But the former statutes be something abridged by Ann. 39. Eliz. cap. 5. by which the gift of lands, &c. to Hospitals, is permitted without obtaining of Mortmaine. & Horom. in his comment. de verbis feudalibus, verbo Manus mortua, habet these words:

* Manus mortua, locutio est que usurpatur de ijs, quorum possessio, ut ita dicam, immortalis est, quia nunquam heredem habere desinunt. Qua de causa res nunquam ad priorem dominum reuertitur, Nam manus pro possessione dicitur, mortua pro immortalis. Sic municipium dicitur non mori. Amortizatio est in manu mortuam translatio Principis iussu. Petrus Bellugain speculo Principum, fol. 76. Ius amortizationis est licentia capiendi ad manum mortuam. Skene de verb. signif. saith that dimittere terras ad manum mortuam, est idem atque dimittere ad multitudinem siue vniuersitatem, quæ nunquam moritur, because Communalities neuer die.

8332 a Mortuarie, buriall, or funerall. Also that which is due or giuen to a Parson out of a dead mans goods. G. Mortuair, Mortuâge. I. Mortoin, Mortório. H. Mortuário. L. Mortuaria, orum, à mortuis, of the dead. Gr. νεκρική, à νεκρός, i. mortuus. Vi. infra Mortuarie.

b Mortuarie, Mortuarius, is a gift left by a man at his death to his Parish Church, for the recompence of his personall tithes and offerings not duly paid in his life time. And if a man haue three or more cat-tell of any kinde, the best being kept for the Lord of the fee, as a Heriot, the second was wont to be giuen to the Parson in right of the Church, cap. stat. de consuet. in provincial. Touching this you haue two statutes: one An. 13. Ed. 1. commonly called Circumspicte agatis: whereby it appeareth, that Mortuaries are suable in the Court Christian: the other An. 21. H. 8. cap. 6. whereby is set downe an order and rate in money for Mortuaries.

Naam.

* Lawfull

Naam.

* Naam vis or mort.

* Naam by the common Law or particular fact.

8455 Naam, (Namium) G. Nampt, cometh from the Dutch word (Nemmen, i. capere, to nimme or take hold on.) It signifieth in our Common Law, the taking or apprehending of another mans moueable goods: and is either lawfull or vnlawfull. * Lawfull Naam is nothing else but a reasonable distresse, proportionable to the value of the thing di-strained for. And this Naam was anciently called either vis or mort, quicke or dead, accordingly as it was made of dead or quicke chatels.
Lawfull Maam is so, * either by the Common Law, or by a mans particular fact: by the Common Law, as when one taketh another mans beasts, dammage leifant in his grounds: by a mans particular fact, as by reason of some contract made, that for default of payment of an annuitie agreed upon, it shall be lawfull to distrein in such or such lands &c. q Hornes Mirrour of Iustices, lib. 2. cap. de voce de Naam. You may reade there of othere circumstances required in Lawfull Naam, viz. of what thing, or of what things first, in what manner, on what daies, and at what houres it ought to be made, with other points worth the reading, for the understanding of our Law antiquities. Vi. withernam.

b Office (Officium) doth signifie not onely the function, by vertue whereof a man hath some employment in the affaires of another, as of the King, or other common person: but also an Inquisition made to the Kings vse, of any thing, by vertue of his office, who inquireth. And therefore we oftentimes reade of an Office found, which is nothing but such a thing * found by inquisition made ex officio. In this signification it is used q. Ann. 33. H. 8. cap. 20. and in Stawnf. Prærog. fol. 60. & 61. where to trauers an office, is to trauers an inquisition taken of office. And in Kitchin, fol. 177. to returne an office, is to returne that which is found by vertue of the office. See also the New booke of Entries, verbo Office pour le Roy. And this is by a Metonymie of the effect. And there be two sorts of offices in this signification, issuing out of the Exchequer by Commission, viz. an office to intitle the King in the thing enquired of, and an office of instruction: which reade in the Lo. Cokes Reports, vol. 6. Pages Case, fol. 52. a. b. Office in fee, is that which a man hath to himselfe and his heires, q. An. 13. Edw. 1. cap. 25. Kitchin fol. 152.

- 8885 Ordael (Ordalium) is a Saxon word, B. Ordael, signifying as much as Iudgement, in some mens opinions compounded of two Saxon words, (or) a priuative, as (a) in Greeke, and (dael, i. pars.) It signifieth as much as experts: but it is artificially used for a kinde of purgation practised in ancient times; whereby the partie purged was iudged experts criminis, called in the Common Law Purgatio vulgaris, and utterly condemned. Therewere of this two sorts: one by fire, another by water. Of these see M. Lamberts in his Explic. of Sax. words, verbo Ordalium, where he expresseth it at large, with such superstitions as were used in it. Of this you may likewise reade Holinshed, in his Descript. of Brit. fol. 98. And also M. Manwood, part. 1. of his Forest Lawes, pag. 15. But of all the rest, Hotom. especially, disput. de feud. cap. 41. where, of fine kindes of proofes, which he calleth Feudales probationes, he maketh this the fourth, calling it Explorationem, & huius furiose probationis 6. genera fuisse animaduertit, per flammam, per aquam, per ferrum candens, per aquam vel gelidam vel feruentem, per sortes, & per corpus Domini: of all which he allegeth severall exampls out of Historie, verie worthie the reading. See also M. Skene, de verb. signif. verbo Machamium. This seemeth to haue bene in use here with us in H. 2. his dayes, as appeareth by Glanville, lib. 14. cap. 1. & 2. Reade also of this in M. Verstegans Re-rit. of decayed intelligence, cap. 3. pag. 36. & seq.

 e Oth of the King (Iuramentum Regis) is that which the King taketh at his Coronation, which in Bracton is set downe in these words, Debet Rex in coronatione sua, in nomine IESU CHRISTI præstito Sacramento, hec tria promittere populo sibi subdito: In primis se esse præcepturum, & pro viribus opem impensurum, ut Ecclesiæ Dei & omni populo Christiano vera pax omni suo tempore obseruetur. Secundo, ut rapacitates & omnes iniquitates omnibus gradibus interdicat. Tertiò, ut in omnibus iudicijs æquitatem præcipiat & misericordiam, ut indulgeat, & suam misericordiam clemens & misericors Deus sibi adhibeat, & ut per iustitiam suam firma gaudeant pace vniuersi. And in the old abridgement of Statutes set out in H. 8. dayes, it is thus described. This is the oath that the King shall sweare at his Coronation: That he shall keepe and maintaine the right, and the liberties of the holy Church, of old time graunted by the righteous Christian Kings of England, and that hee shall keepe all the Lands, Honours, and Dignities righteous, and free, of the Crowne of England, in all manner whole, without any manner of minishment, and the rights of the Crowne, hurt, decayed, or lost, to his power shall call againe into the ancient estate, and that hee shall keepe the peace of the holy Church and of the Clergie, and of the People with good accord: and that hee shall doe in all his iudgements, equitie, and right iustice, with discretion and mercie: and that hee shall graunt to hold the Lawes and Customes of the Realme, and to his power keepe them, and affirme them, which the Folke and People haue made and chosen: and the euill Lawes and Customes wholly to put out: and steadfast and stable peace to the people of this Realme keepe and cause to be kept to his power: and that hee shall graunt no Charter, but where hee may doe it by his oath. All this is in the foresaid Booke, Tit. Sacramentum Regis, and Charter of Pardon. Quinto.
 f Oth of the Kings Justices, is that they well and truly shall serue the King, and that they shall not assent to things that may turne to his damage or disinheritance. Nor that they shall take no fee nor liuerie of none but the King. Nor that they shall take gift nor reward of none that hath adoe before them, except it bee meat and drinke of small value, as long as the Plee is hanging before them, nor after, for the cause. Nor that they shall giue counsell to none in matter that may touch the King, upon paine to bee at the Kings will, bodie and goods. And that they shall doe right to euerie person, notwithstanding the Kings letters, &c. q. Ann. 18. Edw. 3. stat. 4. which the old abridgement maketh to be q. An. 20. ciuid. statut. per se.

c Pardon, Perdonatio. It is used in our Common Law, for the remitting or forgiving of a felonious or other offence committed against the King. This pardon is two-fold: one, ex gratia Regis, the other per cours del ley, by course of Law, & Stawnf. pl. cor. fol. 47. Pardon ex gratia Regis, is that which the King in some special regard of the person or other circumstance, sheweth or affordeth upon his prerogative or power. Pardon by course of Law, is that which the Law in equity affordeth for a light offence, as * homicide casual, when one killeth a man having no such meaning, & West. part. 2. symb. tit. b Parish, Parochia. Vi. Parish supra. It is used in the * Canon Law, sometime for a Bishopricke. But in our Common Law, it signifieth the particular charge of a secular Priest. For every Church is either * Cathedral, Couentual, or Parochiall. Cathedral is that, where there is a Bishop seated, so called à cathedra, the chaire or seat. Conuentual consisteth of regular Clerkes, professing some order of Religion, or of Deane and Chapter, or other College of spiritual men. Parochiall is that which is instituted for the saying of Diuine Seruice, and ministring the holy Sacraments to the people dwelling within a certaine compass of ground nere vnto it. Our Realme was first diuided into Parishes by Honorius Archbishop of Canterbury, in the yeere of our Lord, 636. q. Camd. Brit. Of these Parish Churches there were in England in the daies of H. 8. the number of 45000. q. Horot. in bisdisput. de feudis, cap. 2. maketh mention of this word Parochia out of Pomponius Lætus in these words: Nam sic quoque Pomponius Lætus veterem consuetudinem fuisse scribit, eamque ab Imperatore Constantino repetitam, ut Ducibus, Prefectis, Tribunis, qui pro augendo Imperio consueuerant, darentur agri, villæque, ut necessaria suppeterent, quoad viderent, quas parochias vocabant. And a little after, Verum inter feuda & parochias hoc interest, quod he plerumque senibus & veteranis, plerisque emeritis militibus dabantur, qui cum de Repub. bene meriti essent, publico beneficio reliquum vite sustentabant, aut si quod bellum nasceretur, euocati non tam milites, quam militum magistri viderentur. b Parke, (Parcus) à Gal. (parquer, i. vallo, vel fossa circundare). It signifieth with vs a peece of ground inclosed and stored with wilde beasts of chase. which a man may haue by prescription or the Kings grant, q. Crompt. Iurisd. fol. 148. M. Mamwood par. 1. of his Forest lawes, pag. 148. defineth it thus. A Parke is a place of priuiledge for wilde beasts of venery, and also for other wilde beasts of the Forest, and of the chase, tam syluestres quam campestres. And all those wilde beasts are to haue a firme peace & protection there. So that no man may hurt or chase them within the parke, without licence of the owner of the same. Who also, fol. 149. saith thus. A Parke is of another nature, then either a chase or a warren is. * For a Parke must be inclosed, and may not be open: for if it doe, that is a good cause of seizure of the same into the hands of the King, as a thing forfeited, as a free chase is, if it be enclosed. And moreover, the owner cannot haue action against such as hunt in his Parke, if it lie open. See Forest, see Chase, see Warren.

Patron in the

b Patron, (Patronus) is used in the Ciuill Law, for him that hath manumitted a seruant, and thereby is both iustly accounted his great benefactor, and challengeb certaine reuerence and dutie of him during his life. See the title De iure patronatus, in the Digest. With the Feudists it is used pro authore feudi, q. Hotom. verbo Patronus, in his Commentarie de verbis feudalibus. * In the Canon Law, as also in the Feuds, and our Common Law, it significth him that hath the gift of a Benefice. And the reason is, because the gift of Churches and Benefices originally belonged to such good men, as either builded them, or else endowed them with some great part of the reuenue belonging to them, q. De iure patronatus, in the Decretals. Such might well be called Patrons, as builded the Church, or enriched it; but these that now haue the gift of a Benefice, are more commonly patronized by the Church, (though against her will) at way selling their presentations as deere as they can: and therefore may be called Patroni, à patrocinando, as mons, à mouendo, per antiphrasin, & Patronum faciunt dos, edificatio, fundus, saith the old verse. * Of Lay Patrons most learnedly hath written, and of late published in print, (as a man most able for his singular memorie, great reading, and iudgement, in euery kinde of learning) that learned Knight, Sir Henrie Spelman: a booke parus mole, sed multus aut magnus pondere, intitled, De non Temerandis Ecclesijs.

a half in length, whereof 40. in length, and 4. in breadth, make an acre of ground, q Crompt. Jurisd. fol. 222. Yet by the custome of the country it may be longer, as he there saith. For in the Forest of Sheerewood, it is 25. foot, fol. 224. M. Skene, de verb. signif. verbo Particula terræ, saith that Particula terræ is a Rood of Land, where he hath also these words in effect: three barly cornes without railes, set together in length, make an inch, of the which cornes one should be taken of the middle ridge, one of the side of the ridge, and the other of the furrow: twelve inches make a foot of measure, three foot and one inch make an elne: six elnes long make one fall, which is the common lineall measure, and six elnes long, and six broad, make a square and superficial fall of measured land. And it is to be understood, that one rod, one raip, one lineall fall of measure, are all one. For each one of them containeth six elnes in length: howbeit a rod is a staffe or pole of wood, a raip is made of tow or hempe. And so much Land as fallath under the rod or raip at once, is called a fall of measure, or a lineall fall: because it is the measure of the Line or length only: Like as the superficial fall is the measure, both of length and breadth. Item, ten falls in length and foure in breadth make a Rood, foure Roodes make an acre, &c. This is the measure of Scotland, whereof you may reade more in the same place.

b Peeres (pares.) It significeth in our common Law plurality those that are impanelled in an Enquest upon any man, for the conuicting and clearing him of any offence, for the which he is called in question. And the reason thereof is, because the course and custome of our Nation is, to try every man in this case by his equals. q West. x. cap. 6. an. 3. Ed. 1. So Kitchin vestibit, fol. 78. in these words. Mais si le amerceament soit affirre per pares. And this word in this signification, is not in use with us only, but with other nations also. For Pares sunt conuassali, quorum sententia vassallus propter felloniam est condemnatus. q Barclaius de rege, lib. 4. cap. 2. Et pares sunt qui ab eodem Domino feudum tenent. q Lib. 1. Feud. cap. 26. But this word is most notoriously used for those that be of the Nobility of the Realme, and Lords of the Parliament: and so it is used in Stawnf. pl. of the Crowne, lib. 3. cap. Triall perles Peeres, being the first. The reason whereof is, because though there be a distinction of degrees in our Nobilitie, yet in all publicke actions they are equall: as in their voices in Parliament, and in passing vpon the triall of any Noble man, &c. This Appellation seemeth to be borrowed from France, and from those twelve Peeres, that Charles the great (or Lewis the younger, in some mens opinion) instituted in that Kingdome, which bee next vnto the King, and are of like dignity among themselves, touching their power in publicke affaires. Of whom you may reade Lupanus, de Magist. Franc. lib. 1. cap. Pares Franciæ. So that we, though we haue borrowed the appellation, and applied it with some reason to all that are Lords of the Parliament, yet haue wee no set number of them, because the number of our Nobles may be more or lesse, as it pleaseeth the King.

- c Possession (Posse) is used two waies in our Common Law. First, for lands and inheritance: as, he is a man of large possessions. Next, for the actual enioying of that, which either in truth or pretence is ours. And in this signification there is possession in deed, and possession in Law, q. pl. cor. fol. 198. The example there is this: Before or vntill an office be found, the King hath only possession in Law, and not in deed, speaking of the lands escheated by the attainder of the owner. See q. Prærog. fol. 54. & 55. In this signification also there is an vnitie of possession, which the Ciuilians call Consolidationem. Take an example out of q. Kitchin fol. 134. If the Lord purchase tenancie held by Heriot service, then the Heriot is extinct by vnitie of possession, that is, because the Seignourie and the Tenancie be now in one mans possession. Many diuisions of possession you may reade in q. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 17. per totum.

b Pownde, (Parcus) seemeth to signifie generally any inclosure of strength to keepe in beasts: but especially, with vs, it signifieth a place of strength to restraine cattell, being distrained or put in for any trespass done by them, until they be repleued or redeemed. And in this signification it is called a Pownde ouert, i. apertus, or open pownd; being builded upon the waste of some Lord, within his fee, and is called the Lords pownd: For he prouideth it to his use, and the use of his tenants, q. See Kitch. fol. 144. * It is diuided into pownd open, and * pownd close. Pownd open, or ouert, is not only the Lords pownd, but a Backe-side, Court, Yard, Pasture, or else whatsoever: whether the owner of any beasts impounded may come to give them meat and drinke without offence, for their being there, or his coming thither. Pownd close is then the contrary, viz. such a one as the owner cannot come vnto, to the purpose aforesaid, without offence; as some close house, or such like place.

And though we haue wrought the Latine word into the nature of a Subſtantiu: yet I thinke it originally to be an Adiectiu, or Particip, and to haue bene ioyned with pars or portio, and ſo Pars or Portio præbenda, a part allowed: as Ca- nonica portio, which is in a manner all one in ſignification: aut à præben- do concilio Decano. Honbeit Canonica portio, is properly uſed for that ſhare which euery Canon or Prebendarie receiueth yearly out of the common ſtocke of the Church: and Præbenda is a fewerall benefice ri- ſing from ſome temporall land, or Church appropriated, toward the main- tenance of a Clerke, or member of a Collegiat Church: and is commonly ſurnamed of the place, whence the proſit groweth. And Prebends be either ſimple, or with dignity. Simple Prebends, be thoſe that haue no more but the revenue toward their maintenance. Prebends with dignity, are ſuch, as haue ſome iuriſdiction annexed to them, according to the diuers orders in euery ſeueral Church. Of this ſee more in the title, De præbend, & Dignit. in the Decretals. Alciat ſaith, that Præbenda in the plurall number and neuter gender, was anciently uſed, as now Præbenda in the ſingular number and feminine gender is uſed, q̄ Patry. ca. 43.

b Phacept, Phaceptum, is diuerſly taken in the Common Law: ſometime for a commandement in writing ſent out by a Juſtice of peace, or other, for the bringing of a perſon, one or more, or records before him. Of this you haue examples of diuers in the Table of the q̄ Register Iudiciall. And this uſe ſeemeth to be borrowed from the cuſtomes of Lom- bardie, where præceptum ſignifieth ſcripturam vel instrumentum, q̄ Hot. in verb. feud. & lib. 3. comment. in libros feudorum, in præ- ſatione. Sometime it is taken for the prouocation, whereby one man in-citer another to commit a felonie, as theſt or murder, q̄ Stawuf. pl. cor. fol. 105. Phaceptum alſo it præceptum or mandatum, li. 3. tr. 2. ca. 19. whence a man may obſerue three diuerſities of offending in murder: * Pha- ceptum, fortia, conſilium: Phaceptum being the inſigation uſed before hand: fortia, the aſſiſtance in the fact, as helpe to binde the party murdered or robbed: conſilium, aduice either before or in the deed. 10084 Procurator (Protonotarius) dict. à G. Prime or premier, i. primus, & Notaire, i. notarius, aut à Lat. præ & notarius, q. primus aut principalis notarius. The office is likewise borrowed from the later Romans, who made his name of halfe Greeke and halfe Latine, viz. procurator, i. primus, principalis: & Notarius. It is used in our common Law for the chiefe Clerkes of the Kings Court, whereof three be of the Common Pleas, and one of the Kings Bench. For the Procurator of the Common Pleas, q. An. 5. H. 4. cap. 14. is termed the chiefe Clerke of that Court. He of the Kings Bench recordeth all actions civill sued in that Court, as the Clerke of the Crowne Office doth all continuall causes. Those of the Common Pleas doe enter and enroll all manner of Declarations, Pleadings, Assises, and iudgements, and all actions, the same terme that the appearance is made. Also they make out all iudiciall writs, Venire facias, after issues ioyned, and Habeas corpus, for the bringing in of the Iury, after it is returned upon the Venire facias. They also make forth writs of Executions, and of Seisin, writs of Superfedeas, for appearance to Exigents, as well as the Exigents, and writs of Priviledges, for removing of causes from other inferiour Courts of Record, in case where the partie hath cause of priviledge. Also writs of Procedendo, of Scire facias, in all cases, writs to enquire of dammages: and all proceffe upon Prohibitions, and upon writs of Audita querela, and false Iudgement. Finally, they inrolle all recognisances acknowledged in that Court, and all common recoveries: and may make exemptions of any Records, the same terme before the rolles bee delivered from them.

10095 Premonition, is taken either for a writ, or for the offence whereupon the writ is granted. It is therefore to be noted, that the Church of Rome, having heretofore supremacy and the dignity of S. Peters chaire, heere in England, so that Benefices, Bishopricks, Abbacies, or such like Ecclesiasticall livings, were at the disposing of the Pope. In so much as for the most part, he granted out Mandates of Ecclesiasticall livings, to certaine persons by his Bulles, as having care to have the Church provided of a Successour against it needed. Where it grew, that these kinde of Bulles were called (* Gratia expectantia, or Prouisiones) whereof you may reade of a learned Discourse in * Duarenus, a great Civill Lawyer, in his Tract. De Benefic. lib. 3. cap. 1. and in his Tract. De Imunitate Ecclesie Gallicane, & Vi. Prouision. These prouisions * K. Ed. 3. not digesting, made a statute in the three and twentieth yeere of his raigne, q. Stat. 5. cap. 22. and another, q. Stat. 6. eiusdem anni, cap. 1. and a third, q. An. 27. against those that drew the Kings people out of the Realme, to answer of things belonging to the Kings Court: and another, q. An. 28. Stat. 2. cap. 1, 2, 3. and 4. to the like effect: whereby he greatly restrained this libertie of the Pope. Yet such was the perseverance that grew out of his power, and the patience of Princes in those daies, that he still prosecuted the continuance of the prouisions: in so much also as * King Richard the second made likewise a statute against them in the twelfth yeere of his raigne, cap. 15. and the q. 13. yeere,

Stat. 2. cap. 2. making mention of the said first Statute of King Edward the third, ratifying the same, and appointing the punishment of those, that offended against it, * to perpetuall Banishment, forfeiture of their lands, and tenements, goods and cattels, as by the same doth more at large appeare. And againe in the sixteenth yeere of his raigne, cap. 5. he expresseth the offence more particularly, and setteth the same punishment to it, that he ordained in the last former Statute, for there toward the end he hath these words: If any purchase or pursue, or doe to be purchased or pursued in the Court of Rome, or else where, any such translations, proceffes, and sentences of excommunication, Bulles, instruments, or any other things, &c. After him Henrie the fourth in like manner, the second yeere of his raigne, cap. 3. and 4. addeth certaine new cases, and layeth upon the offenders in them, the same censure, whereunto for shortnes sake, I referre you: to which likewise you may adde the Statute, An. 9. eiusd. cap. 1. and An. 7. cap. 9. and 8. and An. 9. eiusd. cap. 8. and An. 3. H. 5. cap. 4. Of this you may reade * Sir Tho. Smith, De Repub. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 9. in these words, Whosoever sueth for any thing to Rome, or in any spirituall Court, for that cause or Action, which may be pleaded in the temporall Court of the Realme, by an old law of England, he falleth into a Premunire, that is, forfeiteth all his goods to the Prince, and his body to remaine in prison, during the Princes pleasure, and not that onely, but the Iudge, the Scribe, the Procurer, and the Assessor, or Abettor, which receiveth or maintaineth that vilted pleading, doth incur the same danger, q. Sir Thomas Smith, eodem loco, ut supra. Some later Statutes doe cast this punishment vpon other offenders: as namely, the Statute, An. 1. Eliz. ca. 1. vpon him that denieth the Kings Supremacy the second time, &c. and the Statute, An. 13. Elizab. cap. 2. vpon him that affirmeth the authority of the Pope: or that refuseth to take the Oath of Supremacy: and the Statute, q. An. 13. Eliz. cap. 1. such as bee seditious talkers of the inheritance of the Crowne, or affirme the Kings Maiesty to bee an Heretike. And the word is applied most commonly to the punishment first ordained by the Statutes before mentioned, for such as transgressed them. Now touching the * Etymology of this word (Premunire) thus affirmeth Sir Tho. Smith, that it is so called of Premunire and fortifying, and strengthening the Crowne by the former Statutes, against the usurpation of forren and vnnaturall power: which opinion may receive some ground from the Statute, q. An. 25. Ed. 3. Stat. 6. cap. 1. or to grow from the verbe Premunere, that is, to forewarne, as it were a forewarning to any, lest he fall by such attempt into a Premunire, being barbarously turned for Premunere, which corruption is taken from the rude Interpreters of the Civill and Canon Lawes, who indeed doe vse the effect (Premunire) many times for the efficient cause (Premunere) according to our Prouerbe: He that is well warned, is halfe armed. And of this I gather reason from the forme of a writ, which is thus conceived in the Old Nat. Br. fol. 143. Premunire facias prædictum Præpositum, & I. R. Procuratorem, &c. quod tunc sint coram nobis, &c. For these words can be referred to none, but parties charged with the offence.

10097 Prender, dict. à G. (Prendre, i. accipere, capere, prehendere.) It signifieth in our common Law sometimes a power or right to take a thing before it bee offered: as such things as he in Prender, or such as lie in Prender, q. West. par. 2. tit. 9. Fines sect. 126. where you have these words: If the Lord grant the services of his tenant by fine or otherwise, the Lord before atturment, shall have such things as lie in Prender: as the ward of the body of the heire, and of the Land & beasts, &c. but not such things as he in Prender, as rents and reliefs, heriots, and other services. For he cannot auow for them before the Atturment.

10098 Prender de Baron, signifieth literally in barbarous french, to take a husband: but it is used in our common Law, as an exception to disable a woman from pursuing an appeale of murder against the killing of her former husband, q. Stat. 1. pl. cor. lib. 3. cap. 49. The reason whereof whether it be, because by her second marriage, shee may iustly be thought to have given up the interest she had in her former husband, or for that she now is couert againe, or for both, I leaue to consideration to the learned in the Lawes.

10099 Prender del profits, signifieth verbatim to take the profits. It signifieth substantiue the taking of the profits. See Crompt. Iurisd. fo. 185. See Deuour of profits.

10212 Proctors of the Clergie (Procuratores Cleri) are those which are chosen and appointed to appeare for Cathedral and other Collegiate Churches, as also for the common Clergie of euery Diocesse, at the Parliament, whose hoise is in this sort. First the King directeth his Writ to the Archbishop of euery Province, for the summoning of all Bishops, Deanes, Archdeacons, Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, and generally of all the Clergie of his Province, after their best discretion and iudgement, assigning them the time and place in the said Writ. Then the Archbishop proceed in their accustomed course. One example may serue to shew both. The Archbishop of Canterbury upon his Writ received, directeth his letters to the Bishop of London, as his Deane prouinciall, & s. Statuimus de panis & verb. tanquam in gloss: first citing himselfe peremptorily: and then willing him to cite in like manner all the Bishops, Deanes, Archdeacons, Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, and generally all the Clergie of his Province, to the place, and against the day fixed in the Writ. But directeth mithall, that one Proctor sent for euery Cathedral or Collegiate Church, and two for the bodie of the inferior Clergie of each Diocesse may suffice. And by vertue of these Letters authentically sealed, the said Bishop of London directeth his like Letters severally to the Bishop of euery Diocesse of the Province, citing them in like sort, and commanding them not only to appeare, but also to admonish the said Deanes and Archdeacons, personally to appeare, and the Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, as also the common Clergie of the Diocesse, to send their Proctors to the place, and at the day appointed: and also willett them to certifye the Archbishop the names of all and euery so monished by them, in a shedule annexed to their Letters certificatorie. The Bishops proceed accordingly, and the Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, as also the Clergie, make choice of their Proctors: which done, and certified to the Bishop, hee returneth all answerably to his charge at the day.

And this none in our Kingdome can be said to have in any lands or tenements, but only the King in the right of his Crowne. Because all the lands thow the Realme, are in the nature of fee: and doe hold either mediately or immediately of the Crowne. See fee. This word neuertheless is in our Common Law, used for that right in lands and tenements, that common persons have; because it importeth as much as (vile dominium) though not (directum).

* Protection
Generall.
* Protection

b ¶ Protection (Protectio) hath a generall, and a speciall signification. * In the generall it is used for that benefit and safetie, that every Subject, or Denizen, or Alien specially secured, hath by the Kings Lawes. And thus it is used, q An. 25. Ed. 3. cap. 22. * Protection in the speciall signification, is used for an exemption, or immunitie, given by the King to a person against suits in Law, or other vexations, upon reasonable causes moving him thereunto, which I take to be a branch of his Prerogative. And of this Protection, Fitzh. maketh two sorts in his Nat. br. fol. 28. The first forme or sort he calleth a Protection, cum clausula, volumus, whereby he mentioneth foure particulars. A Protection, quia profecturus, for him that is to passe over Sea in the Kings service. A Protection, quia moratur, for him that is abroad in the Kings service upon the Sea, or in the Marches, q An. 7. H. 7. cap. 2. * A Protection for the Kings debtor, that he be not sued or attached until the King bee paid his debt. See q An. 15. Ed. 3. This some Civilians call moratorium: which see in singularibus Marantz, verbo Principes, p. 79. col. 2. And a Protection in the Kings service beyond the Seas, or on the Marches of Scotland: whereby you may read something, q An. 1. R. 2. cap. 8. See the q Regist. orig. fol. 23. and q Brit. cap. 123. The second forme of Protection, is termed cum clausula, Nolumus: which is granted most commonly to a spirituall companie for their immunitie from taking of their cattell by the Kings ministers. But it may be granted also to one man spirituall or temporall. Of these things read the same Author, and the formes of these writs. See also in the Regist. orig. fol. 22. & 23. And see the new Exposition of Law-terms, to what action the Kings Protection doth not extend. See also the new booke of Entries, verbo Protection.

b ¶ Protest (Protestari) hath two diuers applications: one is by way of cautell, to call witness (as it were) or openly to affirme, that he doth either not at all, or but after a sort, yeeld his consent to any act, as unto a proceeding of a Iudge in a Court, wherein his jurisdiction is doubtful, or to answer upon his oath further than he by Law is bound. See q Plowd. casu Gresbroke, fol. 176. b. and the Regist. orig. f. 306. b. Another is, by way of complaint to protest a mans bill. For example: If I giue money to a Merchant in France, taking his bill of exchange to be repaid in England, by one to whom he assigneth me: if at my coming I finde not myselfe satisfied to my contentment, but either delayed or denied, then I goe into the Bursie, or some open concourse of Merchants, and protest that I am deceived by him. And thereupon if he haue any goods remaining in any mans hands within the Realme, the Law of Merchants is, that I be paid out of them.

gatione. L. Purgatio, a purgando. Vi. Cleansing.

10391 Purgation (Purgatio) is a clearing of a mans selfe from a crime, whereof he is probably and publicly suspected, and thereof denounced to a Iudge. Of this there was great use in England touching matters of felonie imputed to Clerkes in former time, as appeareth by q. Stawnf. pl.
 cor. li. 2. ca. 48. See Clergie. It is still obserued for matters pertaining to the Ecclesiasticall Court, as suspicion, or common fame of incon-tinency, or such like. * Purgatio is either canonicall or vulgar, Canonicall, is that which is prescribed by the Canon Law: the forme whereof is usual in the spiritual Court, the man suspected taking his oath that he is cleere of the fault objected, and bringing so many of his honest neighbours, being not above twelue, as the Court shal assigne him, to sweare upon their consciences and credulitie, he sweareth truly, or hath taken a true oath. * Vulgar purgation, was by fire, or water, or by combat, used by Infidels, and Christians also, untill by the Canon Law it was abolished, q. Tit. 15. de purg. can. & vulg. in Decretalibus. Combat, though, it be lesse in use than it was, yet is it, and may be still practised by the Lawes of the Realme, in cases doubtfull, if the Defendant chuse rather the Combat than other trial. See Duel. See Combat.

10395 Purlicu, or Purlicue, is all that ground neere any Forest, which being made Forest by H. 2. R. 1. or King Iohn, were by perambula-tions granted by H. 3. severed againe from the same, q. Manwood par. 2. of his Forest Lawes, ca. 20. And he calleth this ground either Pourallee, i. perambulationem, or purlicu and purly; which bee saith, bee but abusively taken for pourallee, ubi supra, num. 3. But it may also come of two French words, pur, i. purum, and lieu, i. locus: because that such grounds as were by those Kings subiected to the Lawes and ordinances of the Forest, are now cleere and freed from the same: for as the Ciuilians call that purum locum, quæspulcrorum religioni non est obstrictus, §. 9. de rerum diuis. in Inst. so no doubt in imitation of that very point, our Ancestours called this purlicu, i. purum locum, because it was exempted from that seruitude that was formerly laid upon it. So ager purus est, qui neque sacer, neque sanctus, neque religiosus, sed ab omnibus huiusmodi nominibus vacare videtur, l. 2. §. 4. de relig. & sumpt. funerum. And therefore Crompt. Purraile is not much amisse, fol. 153.
 of his Jurisd. because we may also deriue it from the French words pur, i. pure, and allee, i. a cleere or free walke or passage: or pour, for luy, him, as it were free for the pourlieu men. And where it is sometime called Pourallee, that may and doth come from pur, and allee, i. itio, prosectio, ambulatio, because hee that walketh or courseth within that compasse, is cleere enough from the Lawes or penalties incurred by them which hunt within the precincts of the Forest. See the q. Star. Ann. 33. Ed.
 1. Stat. 5.

b Purlicu, or Purlicu man, is he that hath ground within the purlicu, and being able to dispend 40. s. by the yeere of free hold, is upon these 2. points licensed to hunt in his owne purlicu, q. Manwood par. 1. of his Forest Lawes, pag. 151. & 177. But what obseruations he must use in his hunting, see him pag. 180. 181. 186. See him likewise par. 2. ca. 20.

- 10481 Due est meline, significat verbatim, which is the selfesame thing. It is used in our Common Law, as a word of art in an action of trespass, or of like nature, for a direct signification of the very act complained of by the plaintife, as a wrong. For example, in an action of the case, the plaintiffe saith, that the Lord threatned his tenants at will in such sort, as he drave them to give up their tenures. The Lord for his defence pleadeth, that he said to them, that if they would not depart, he would sue them as the Law would. This being the same threatning that he used, or, to speake artificially, que est le melme, the defence is good.

10521 Quinquagesima Sunday, is alway the next Sabbath before Shrouetide, so called, because it is the fiftieth day before Easter. * Sexagesima Sunday is the next Sabbath before Quinquagesima, so called in the opinion of q. Durandus, because the number of sixtie consisteth of six times ten, six having reference to the six workes of mercie, and ten, to the ten Commandements, q. Durand. * Septuagesima is the next before Sexagesima, and is instituted, and so called, as q. Durand likewise saith, for three things: and to use his owne words; Primo propter redemptionem Sabbathi. Secundo propter representationem, quoniam representat septuaginta annos captivitatis Babylonicæ. Tertiò propter significationem, quoniam per hoc tempus significatur deuotio, exilium, & tribulatio totius humani generis, ab Adam usque ad finem mundi: quod quidem exilium sub reuolutione septem dierum peragitur, & sub septem millibus annorum includitur. Of these three daies, you may reade him at large. I take occasion to note what time of the yeere they be, because I finde them spoken of in our ancient Law-writers, as q. The word is appropriated to the Forest, signifying the office of the Rawnger. * The Rawnger is a sworn Officer of the Forest (of which sort there seeme to be twelue) Charta de Foresta, ca. 7. whose authority is partly declared in his Oath, set downe by Manwood, part. 1. of his Forest Lawes, pag. 50. in these words: You shall truly execute the Office of a Rawnger, in the Purleuse of B. upon the borders of the Kings Forest of W. You shall rebasse, and with your bound drine backe againe the wilde beasts of the Forest, as often as they shall raunge out of the same into your Purleuse. You shall truly present all vnlawfull hunting and hunters of wilde beasts of venerie, as well within the Purleuse, as within the Forest. And these and all other offences you shall present at the Kings next Court of Attachments, or Swainemote, which shall first happen. So helpe you God. But the same Author setteth downe his Office more particularly in his second part, ca. 20. n. 15, 16, 17. The summe whereof is this: A Rawnger is an Officer of the Forest, or to the Forest, but not within the Forest, hauing no charge of vert, but onely of venison that commeth out of the Forest into his charge, or part of the pourallee, to safe conduct them backe againe. And therefore in those Forests that haue no pouralleces, there be no Rawngers, but Foresters serue the turne. This Rawnger is made and appointed by the Kings letters patents vnder the great seale, and for his better encouragement in his duty, he hath a yeerely fee of 20. or 30. pound, paid out of the Exchequer, and certaine fee Deere, both red and fallow. His Office consisteth chiefly in these three points: ad perambulandum quotidie per terras deafforestatas, ad videndum, audien-dum, & inquirendum, tam de malefactis quam de malefactoribus in Balima sua; ad refugandum feras Forestæ, tam venenis quam chasee, de terris deafforestatis, in terras afforestatas: and ad presentandum omnes trans-gressiones Forestæ in terris deafforestatis factas ad proximas curias illius Forestæ tentas.

nificeth in our common Law the same thing. For example; a man giueth land to him and the issue of his body, to another in fee with warrantie; and the Donnee leaseh out this land to a third for yeeres: the heire of the Donour impleadeth the tenant, alledging, that the land was entailed to him: the Donnee commeth in, and by vertue of the warrantie made by the Donour, repelleth the heire, because though the land were intailed to him, yet he is heire to the warrantie likewise: and this is called a Rebutter. See Brooke, tit. Barre, num. 13. And againe, if I graunt to my tenant to hold fine impetitione vasti, and afterward I impleade him for waste made, hee may debarre mee of this action, by shewing my graunt: and this is likewise a Rebutter. Idem, eod. num. 25. See the New booke of Entries, verbo order is he, whom the Mayor, or other Magistrate of any Citie or Towne Corporate, having jurisdiction, or a Court of Record within their Precincts by the Kings grant, doth associate unto him for his better direction in matters of Justice and proceedings according to Law. And hee is for the most part a man well seene in the Common Law.

10753 to Recover, or reuue. Vi. to Reuue.

10754 a Recouerie, Recuperatio. It significth in our Common Law an obtaining of any thing by iudgement or trial of Law: as * Eui-dio doth among the Ciuilians. But you must understand, that there is a true recouerie, and a fained. A true recouerie, is an actual or recall couerie of any thing, or the value thereof, by iudgement: As if a man sued for any land, or other thing moueable or immoueable, and haue a verdict, and iudgement for him. * A fained recouerie is a certaine forme or course set downe by Law, to be obserued, for the better assuring of lands or tenements to vs. And for the better understanding of this, reade q. West. part. 2. symb. tit. Recoueries, sect. 1. who saith, that the end and effect of a recouerie, is to discontinue and destroy Estates, Tailles, Remainders, and Reuerfions, and to barre the former owners thereof. And in this formalitie there be required three parties, viz. the Demaundant, the Te-nent, and the Vouchee. The Demaundant is he that bringeth the Writ of Entrie, and may be termed the Recouerer. The Tenant is he, against whom the Writ is brought, and may be termed the Recoueree. The Vow-chee is he, whom the Tenant voucheth or calleth to warrantie, for the land in demand, q. West. vbi supra. In whom you may reade more touching this matter. But for example to explaine this point: A man that is desirous to cut off an estate taile in lands or tenements, to the end, to sell, giue, or bequeath it, as himselfe seeth good, vseth his friend to bring a Writ upon him for this land. He appearing to the Writ, saith for himselfe, that the land in question came to him or his aunccestors from such a man or his aunccestor, who in the conuycance thereof, bound himselfe and his heires to make good the title to him or to them to whom it was conueyed.
And so he is allowed by the Court to call in this third man, to say what hee can for the iustifying of his right to this land, before he so conueyed it. The third man cometh not; whereupon the land is recovered by him that brought the Writ, and the tenant of the land is left for his remedie to the third man, that was called, and came not in to defend the tenant. And by this meanes the entaile which was made by the tenant or his aunccestor, is cut off by iudgement hereupon giuen: for that he is pretended to haue no power to entaile that land, whereunto he had no iust title, as now it appeareth: because it is euicted or recovered from him. This kinde of recouerie, is by good opinion, but a snare to decieve the people, q. Doct.
& Stud. cap. 32. Dial. 1. fol. 56. a This fained recouerie is also called a * Common recouerie: and the reason of that epitheton is, because it is a beaten and common path to that end, for which it is ordained, viz. to cut off the estates aboue specified. See q. the New booke of Entries, verbo Recouerie. A true recouerie is as well of the value, as of the thing: that (in value) significth as much as (Illud quod interest) with the Ciuilians. For example: If a man buy land of another with warrantie, which land a third person afterward by suit of Law recouereth against me, I haue my remedie against him that sold it me, to recover in value, that is, to recover so much in money as the land is worth, or so much other land by way of exchange, q. Fitz. Nat. br. fol. 134. K. To recover a warrantie, q. Old Nat. br. fol. 146. is, to proue by iudgement, that a man was his warrant against all men for such a thing.

10759 a Recto, is a Writ, called in English, a Writ of Right, which see q. Bract. lib. 5. tract. 1. cap. 1. & seq. where you may reade your fill of this Writ. See q. Fitz. Nat. br. fol. 1. C. Whom see also fol. 6. of a speciall Writ of right in London, otherwise called a Writ of right according to the custome of London. q. Glanville seemeth to make every Writ, whereby a man sueth for any thing due to him, a Writ of right, lib. 10. ca. 1.

lib. 11. ca. 1. lib. 12. cap. 1.

b a Recto de dote, is a Writ of right of dower, which lieth for a woman, that hath received part of her dower, and purposeth to demand the remanent in the same towne, against the heire, or his Guardian, if hee be Ward. Of this see more in the q. Old Nat. br. fol. 5. and q. Fitz.
fol. 7. E. and q. Regist. orig. fol. 3. and the q. New booke of Entries, c a Recto de dote unde nihil habet, is a Writ of right, which lyeth in case, where the husband having diuers lands or tenements, hath assured no dower to his wife, and shee thereby is driven to sue for her thirds against the Heire or his Guardian, q. Old Nat. br. fol. 6. q. Regist. orig. fol. 170.

d a Recto de rationabili parte, is a Writ that lieth alwaies betweene priuies blood, as brothers in Gavelkinde, or sisters, or other Coparceners, as Nephewes or Nieces, and for land in fee simple. For example: If a man lease his land for terme of life, and afterward dieth, leaving if-sue, two daughters, and after that the Tenant for terme of life likewise dieth: the one sister entring upon all the land, and so deforcing the other, the sister so deforced shall haue this Writ to recover her part, q. Fitz. Nat. br.
fol. 9. q. Regist. orig. fol. 3.

e a Recto de Aduocacia Ecclesie, is a Writ of right, lying where a man hath right of Aduowzen, and the Parson of the Church dying, a stranger presenteth his Clerke to the Church, and hee not having moved his action of Quare impedit, nor Darrein presentment, within six moneths, but suffered the stranger to usurpe upon him. And this Writ he only may haue, that claimeth the Aduowzen, to himselfe, and to his heires in fee. And as it lieth for the whole Aduowzen: so it lieth also for the halfe, the third, the fourth part, q. Old Nat. br. fol. 24. q. Regist. orig. fol. 29.

f a Recto de custodia terre & heredis, is a Writ that lieth for him, whose tenant holding of him in Chivalrie, dieth in his nonage, against a stranger that entreib upon the land, and taketh the bodie of the heire. The forme and surber use whereof, see in q. Fitz. Nat. br. fol. 139. and the
q. Regist. orig. fol. 161.

g a Recto sur disclaimer, is a Writ that lieth, where the Lord in the Kings Court, seil. in the Common Plees, doth anore upon his Tenant, and the tenant disclaimeth to hold of him, upon the disclaimer hee shall haue this Writ. And if the Lord auerre and proue, that the land is holder of him, he shall recover the land for ever, q. Old Nat. br. fol. 150. which is grounded upon the Statute, q. Westm. 2. ca. 2. An. 13. Ed. 1. which Stature beginneth, Quia Domini feudorum, &c.

b a Rectoz, is both Latine and English, significth a Gouvernour. In the Common Law, Rectoz ecclesie parochialis, is he that hath the charge or cure of any Parish Church: qui tantum ius in ecclesia parochiali ha-bet, quantum Prælati in ecclesia collegiata, cap. ult. De locat. & conduct. in glof. verbo Expelli potuissent. * In our Common Law, I heare that it is lately over-ruled, that Rectoz Ecclesie parochialis, is hee that hath a Parsonage, where there is a Vicarage endowed; and he that hath a Parsonage without a Vicarage, is called Persona. But this distinction seemeth to be new, and subtle præter rationem. I am sure Bract. vseth it otherwise, lib. 4. tract. 5. cap. 1. in these words: Et sciendum quod rectoribus ecclesiarum parochialium competit, Assisa qui instituti sunt per Episcopos & Ordinarios vt Personæ, where it is plaine, that rectoz & persona be confounded. Marke also these words there following: Item di-ci possunt rectores canonici de ecclesijs prebendis. Item dici possunt rectores, vel quasi, Abbates, Priores, & alij qui habent ecclesias ad proprios vili. Vi. a Parson.

And though it haue a generall signification of any care or diligence: yet it hath also a speciall acceptance, and therein is used only in matters of the Forest: and there two waies: one for the office of the Regarder, the other for the compasse of ground belonging to the Regarders office or charge, q. *Crompt. Invisd. fol. 175. 199. Touching the former, thus saith Manwood, part. 1. of his Forest Lawes, pag. 198. * The Eire, i. generall Sessions of the Forest, or Iustices seat, is to be holden and kept euery third yeere: and of necessity before that any such Sessions or Iustices seat can be holden, the Regarders of the Forest must make their Regard. And this making of the Regard, must be done by the Kings Writ. And the Regard is (as he afterward there saith) to goe thorow the whole Forest, and euery Bayliwicke of the same, to see and enquire of the trespasses of the Forest, which he compriseth in these foure, viz. Ad videndum, ad inquirendum, ad imbreuiandum, ad certificandum. Of euery of which branches you may reade there his exposition. Touching the second signification, the compasse of the Regarders charge, is the whole Forest, (that is, all that ground which is parcel of the Forest.) For there may be woods within the limits of the Forest, that be no parcel thereof, and those be without the Regard, as the same Author plainly declareth, part. 1. pag. 194. and againe, part. 2. cap. 7. num. 4. where he sheweth the difference betwene these words: Infra Regardum or Rewardum, & Infra Forestam.*

c * Regarder (Regardator) G. Regardéur, i. spectátor, significat an Officer of the Forest. q. *Crompt. Invisd. fol. 153. where it is thus defined. A Regarder is an Officer of the Forest, appointed to suruey all other Officers: He saith there also, that this Officer was ordained in the beginning of K. H. 2. daies. But Manwood in his Forest lawes, part. 1. pag. 188. thus defineth him. A Regarder is an Officer of the Kings forest, that is sworne to make the Regard of the Forest, as the same hath bin used to be made in ancient time. And also to view and inquire of all offences of the Forest, as well of Vert as of Venison, and of all concealments of any offences or defaults of Foresters, and of all other Officers of the Kings Forest, concerning the execution of their offices. He saith there also, that a Regarder may be made either by the Kings letters Patents, or by any one of the Kings Iustices of the Forest, at his discretion in the generall Eyre, or at such time, as the Regard is to be made, by virtue of the Kings Writ directed to the Sherriffe of the Countie for that purpose. The forme of which Writ he there setteth downe. After that, pag. 192. he setteth downe his oath in these words. You shall truly serue our Soueraigne Lord the King in the Office of a Regarder in the Forest of Waltham. You shall make the Regard of the same in such manner as the same hath bene accustomed to be made. You shall raunge thorow the whole Forest, and thorow euery Bayliwicke of the same, as the Foresters there shall leade you to view the said Forest. And if the Foresters will not, or doe not know how to leade you, to make the Regard or raunge of the Forest, or that they will conceale from you any thing that is forfeited to the King, you your selues shall not let for any thing, but you shall see the same forfeited, and cause the same to be enrolled in your Roll. You shall enquire of all waistes, pourprestures, and Allerts of the Forests, and also of concealments of any offence or trepasse in the Forest. And all these things you shall to the uttermost of your power doe. So helpe you God. Then you may reade further the particulars of his Office, eadem, pag. 195. And pag. 207. he saith that their presentments must be vpon their view, and so recorded; and that the Regarders of themselves haue power to heare and determine the fine or amercement, for expediting of dogges. b Register, containeth the originall writs of the Common Law. It is the ancientest Booke of the Law. For the Booke case and Record of 26. Ed. 3. lib. Assis. placit. 24. prometh directly, that Originall Writs of Assise, and other Originall Writs, had bene time out of minde of man (that is, the beginning whereof cannot bee knowne, either by remembrance, reading or record) long before the Conquest. And this booke is called Registrum Cancellarie, in the Statute of Westm. 2. cap. 24. because that the Chancery is tanquam officina iusticie, * all Originall Writs issuing out of that Court. Now for the authoritie thereof, Bracton lib. 5. tractat. de Exceptionibus, cap. 17. fol. 413. saith thus * Breue quidem cum sit formatum ad similitudinem regulæ iuris, quia breuiter & paucis verbis intentionem proferentis exponit & explanat, sicut regula iuris rem quæ est, breuiter enarrat, &c. Sunt quædam formata sub certis casibus de cursu & de communi concilio totius regni concessa & approbata, quæ quidem nullatenus mutari poterint absque consensu & voluntate eorum. Now ioyning both these authorities together, a man may safely conclude, That this booke is most ancient, and of greatest authoritie, q. Coke. I confesse (saith he) that by force of acts of Parliament in succeeding ages, diuers other Writs originall, in cases newly happening, are (as appeareth in the same) added therunto. And of these ancient Writs I will say, ( as Sir Thomas Smith a Secretarie of State said) that all the Secretaries in Christendome may learne of them to expresse much matter in few and significant words. H. 4. cap. 7.* by the which the Lords offending herein, should make ransom at the Kings will, * Retainers and any Knight or Esquire hereof duly attainted, should lose his said Livery, and forfeit his fee for ever: and any Yeoman wearing the Livery of the Knight, or other Lord, should be imprisoned, and make ransom at the Kings will, only some few excepted, in the said Statute: which Statute is further confirmed and explained, q. An. 2. H. 4. cap. 21. & An. 7. eiusd. cap. 14. & An. 13. eiusd. cap. 3. & An. 8. H. 6. cap. 4. And yet this offence was so deeply rooted, that Edw. 4. was driven to confirm the former Statutes, and further to extend the meaning of them, as appeareth by the Statute made q. Ann. 8. Edw. 4. cap. 2. adding an especiall paine of five pounds to every man that giveth such Livery, and as much to every one so retained, either by writing, oath, or promise, for every moneth. Yet is not this fault so well looked unto, but that there is need of more pregnant Lawes, for the redresse thereof, or at the least better execution of those that be already made. These be by the Feudists called (* Affidati) Sic enim dicuntur qui in alicuius fidem & tutelam recepti sunt, q. Neapol. const. lib. 3. tit. 7. require a powerfull Coadjutor. The wise Duke of Saxonie, through all these faire pretences, saw the maine plot, which was to make Germanie Vnius quasi familie hereditatem: and therefore hee first flatly denied to yeeld to any such institution. Then he motioned, that there might be an act made to prohibite the continuance of the Imperiall authoritie longer in one Family, than for three successions: But prevailing in neither, he left the Electors, by whom Ferdinand was chosen, and not long after crowned at Aken alias Aquilgrau in Germany, the sixteenth of Ianuary 1531. This Policie hath bene continued ever since by his Successours, to which the Germans are more willing, because the Austrian Princes are natives of the Countrie, and able to out-backe the Emperour in his compleat countenance of Maicstie, & Heylyn. - Route. 11224 Route (Routa) G. Route, i. a company or flocke: as (vne grande route de gents, ou de cerfs.) It signifieth in our Common Law an assembly of three persons or more, going on about forcibly to commit an vnlawfull act, but yet doe it not, q West. part. 2. Symb. tit. Indictments, sect. 65. o. q Lamb. faith. That it is said properly of the multitude that assembleth themselves in such disorderly sort, for their common quarrels. As if the inhabitants of a towneship doe assemble to pull downe a hedge or pale to haue their Common, where they ought to haue none: or to beat a man, that hath done them some publike offence, or displeasure. But the Statute of 18. Ed. 3. Stat. 1. cap. vnico, which giueth processe of outlawrie against such as bring Routes into the presence of the Iustice, or in affray of the people, and in the Statute 2. of Rich. 2. cap. 6. that speaketh of riding in great routes, to make entry into lands, and to beat others, &c. doe seeme to vnderstand it more largely. And it is a Route, whether they put their purpose in execution or no: if so be, that they doe goe, ride, or moue forward their meeting, *q Brooke, tit. Riot. 4. & 5. So (as it seemeth) a Route should be a speciall kinde of vnlawfull assembly: and a Riot the disorderly fact committed generally by any vnlawfull assemble: the one, that three persons, at the least, be gathered together, for so it is commonly taken at this day: the other, that they being together, doe breed disturbance of the Peace, either by signification of speech, show of armour, turbulent gesture, or actual and expresse violence: so that either the peaceable sort of men be vniquieted, and feared by the fact, or the lighter sort and buie bodies emboldened by the example. Thus farre Lamb. in his Eirenar. lib. 2. cap. 5. &c. Where see Riot, q Kitchin giueth the same definition of a Route, fol. 20.*

office is to set downe the dishes of meat at the table: unde Ital. vocat-ur Servitor di piatto, a seruatur for the platter. L. Antecambulones.
- b Sewar, hath two significations with vs: one applied to him that issueth or commeth in before the meat of the King, or other great personage, and placeth it upon the Table: the other to such passages, or gutters, as carrie water into the sea, or riuer, in Lawyers Latine called Sewera, q Anno 6. H. 6. cap. 5. which is also used in common speech for Commissioners authorized vnder the great seale, to see drains and di-ches well kept and maintained, in the marsh and fen countries, for the better conuoyance of the water into the sea, and the preserving of the grasse for food of cattle, q Stat. An. 6. H. 6. c. 5. It is probable to bring this word from the French Isir, to issue or flow forth, or issue, an issue or going forth: as if we should call them Isuvers, because they giue illius or passage to the water, or by prothes. by putting a letter, viz. S. to the French, cauiet, i. a sewer or sinke, dict. ab eau, i. aqua, of drawing away the water. And the Latine word Sucria, sometimes used in these Commissions, for these drains, is a competent reason for this coniecture. Vide q Fitzh. nat. br. in Oyer and Terminer. For the former word, Sewar, I haue heard of an old French booke, containing the Officers of the King of England's Court, as it was anciently governed, that hee whom in Court wee now call Sewar, was called Asseoir, which commeth from the French Asseoir, to set, settle, or place, wherein his Office in setting downe the meat is well expressed. And Sewer, as it signifieth an Officer, is by Fleta Latined Asse-sor, a setter downe, lib. 2. cap. 15.

12200 Soe (Soca) is a word signifying a power or libertie of Iurif-diction, as appeareth by these words out of Bracton: Sunt qui Barones & alii libertatem habentes, scil. Soc & Sac, Tol & Thean, Infangthesse & Vfangthesse, & isti possunt iudicare in Curia sua cum qui inuentus fuerit infra libertatem suam seisisus de aliquo latrocinio manifesto. Et lib. 3. tract. 2.
cap. 6. in the Lawes of King Edw. set out by M. Lamb. fol. 132. you haue these words: Socha est quod si aliquis querit aliquid in terra sua, etiam furtum, sua est Iusticia, si inuentus fuerit, an non. & Saxon in the Description of Britanie, cap. 11. saith that Sock is a suit of Court, and thas thereof commeth Soken: but the signification of the word commeth from the German Süchen, i. querere, so that Soc is inquisitio, i. a seeking. The Expofitor of the Termes of Law saith thus: Sok is the suit of men in your Court according to the custome of the Realme.

Now it hath the signe of a Starre ouer the doore, as you one way enter therein. In this Chamber, every weeke twice, during the Terme time, and the very next day after the Terme, is there a Court held by the Lord Chancellor, or Keeper, and other honourable Personages of the Realme. This Court seemeth to have beginning from the Statute 3. H. 7. cap. 1. whereby it is ordained that the Lord Chancellor and Treasurer of England, for the time being, and the Keeper of the Kings Priue Seale, or two of them, calling to them a Bishop, and a Temporall Lord of the Kings most Honourable Counsell; and the two Chiefe Iustices of the Kings Bench and Common Place, for the time being, or other two Iustices in their absence, should have power to call before them, and punish such misdoers, as there be mentioned. The faults that they should punish be Routes, Riots, Forgeries, Maintennances, Embraceries, Perjuries, and such other misdemeanors, as are not sufficiently provided for by the Common Law. It appeareth both by Sir Thomas Smith, lib. 2. Rep. Ang. cap. 4. and by experience also, that at this day the whole number of the Princes most Honourable Priue Council, and such other Barons Spirituall, or Temporall as be called thither by the Prince, have place in this Court, with those above named of this Court. - 12542 q. West. part. 1. Symb. lib. 2. Sect. 151. where he describeth a Statute Merchant thus: Is a bond acknowledged before one of the Clerkes of the Statutes Merchant, and Maior, and chiefe Warden of the Citie of London, or two Merchants of the said Citie for that purpose assigned, or before the Maior, chiefe Warden, or Master of other Cities or good Townes, or other sufficient men for that purpose appointed, sealed with the Seale of the Debtor or Recognitor, and of the King, which is of two peeces, the greater is kept by the said Maior or chiefe Warden, &c. And the lesser pece thereof by the said Clerkes. The forme of which bond you may see in Fleta lib. 2. cap. 64. &c. thus, Nouerint vniuersi me T. de tali Comitatu teneri N. in Centum libris soluendis eidem ad festum Sci. &c. Annoregni regis, &c. & nisi fecero concedo quod currant super me & heredes meos districtio & pena promissa in statuto Domini Regis edito apud Westm. Dat. Lond. tali die Anno supradicto. The Fee for the same Seale, is for Statutes knowledges in Faires; for every pound a halfe peny, and out of Faires a farthing. The execution of Statute Merchant is first to take the bodie of the Debtor or Recogniser, if he be not a Clerke, and can be found, if otherwise then upon his lands and goods: The bond is founded upon the Statute. q. Anno 13. Edw. 1. Stat. 4. of this also as of the Statute Staple, see the New booke of Entries verbo Statute Merchant, and reade in Fleta vbi supra, more touching this matter, worth the reading.

12543 Statute Staple, to use the very words of M. West. is either properly so called, or improperly. A Statute Staple properly so called, is a bond of Record acknowledged before the Maior of the Staple, in the presence of one or two Constables of the same Staple, for which Seale the Fee is every pound, if the same exceed not 100. an halfe-peny, and if it exceed 100. a farthing. And by vertue of such Statute Staple, the Creditor or Recogniser may forthwith have execution of the bodie, lands and goods of the Debtor or Recogniser: and this is founded upon the Statute, An. 27. Edw. 3. cap. 9. A Statute Staple improper, is a bond of Record founded upon the Statute Anno 23. H. 3. cap. 6. of the nature of a proper Statute Staple, as touching the forme and execution thereof, and knowledges before one of the chiefe Iustices, and in their absence before the Maior of the Staple, and Recorder of London. The formes of all these bonds or statutes see in West. part. 1. Symb. lib. 2. Sect. 152. 153. 154. 155. and how to sue a Statute Staple, forfeited, see q. Artur. Acad. pag. 66. 67.

12543-2 Statute Sessions, otherwise called petit Sessions, is a meeting in every Hundred of all the Shires in England, where of custome they haue bene used: unto the which the Constables doe repaire, and others both householders and seruants, for the debating of differences between masters and their seruants, the rating of seruants wages, and the bestowing of such people in seruice, as being fit to serue, either refuse to seete, cannot get masters, q. Sterlingus, saith thus: Sterling is a kinde of weight containing 32. cornes or graines of wheat. And the sterling penie is so called, because it weighs so many graines, as by prooue you may verifie. And by the Law of England the penie which is called the Sterling, round and without clipping, weighs 32. graines of wheat without talleis, and that two of those pence make an ounce, and twelue ounces a pound in weight, or threescore shillings in number, and eight pound of wheat make a gallon, and eight gallons make a bushell of London, which is the eighth part of a quarter. In the Canon Law mention is made of siue shillings sterling, and a merke sterling,

The greatest of these is the Lord high Steward of England, whose power (if those antiquities be true which I have read) is next to the King, and of that height, that it might in some sort match the Ephorie among the Lacedæmonians. The custome of our Common-wealth hath upon great consideration and policie brought it to passe, that this high Officer is not appointed for any long time, but only for the dispatch of some speciall businesse at the Arraignment of some Noble-man in the case of treason, or such like: which once ended, his commission expireth. Of the high Stewards Court,

- 14057 Union, Vnio, is a combining of two Churches in one, which is done by the consent of the Bishop, the Patrone, and the Incumbent, and this is properly called an Vnio: Howbeit there be two other sorts, as when one Church is made subiect to another, and when one man is made Prelate of both, and when a conuentual is made a Cathedrall, as you may reade in the Glosse of the Chapter, Licet de locato & conducto, in Lynwoods Prouincials § Et quia versu Approbationis. Touching the vnion in the first signification, there was a Statute Anno 37. Hen. 8. cap. 21. That it should be lawfull in two Churches, whereof the value of the one is not above six pound in the Kings bookes of the first fruits, and not above one mile distant from the other. Vnio in this signification is personall, that is, for the life of the Incumbent, or Reall, that is, perpetuall, whoeuer be Incumbent.

Unitie of possession, is called Consolidatio vsus fructus & proprietatis in the Ciuill law, signifying a ioynt possession of two rights by seuerall titles. For example, I take a lease of land from one, upon a certaine Rent: Afterward I buy the Fee simple. This is an vnitie of possession, whereby the Lease is extinguished, by reason that I, which had the occupation only for my rent, am become Lord of the same, and am to pay my rent to none but to my selfe. Also an Abbot being seated within a certaine parish, afterward obtaineth an Appropriation of the Tithes belonging to that Church, for the use of his house. Hence is an vnitie of possession, by reason that the Tithes which before were to be paid to the Incumbent, are now to be paid to none but himselfe, by vertue of the Appropriation.

A free Warren is sometime inclosed, and sometime it doth lie open. For there is no necessitie of inclosing the same, as there is of a Parke. daughter unto Hingist King of the Saxons, as she was very beautiful, so was she of a very comely deportment, and Hingist having omitted King Vortiger to a supper, at his new builded Castle, caused that after supper she came forth of her Chamber, into the Kings presence, with a cup of gold filled with wine, in her hand, and making in very seemly manner a low reuerence vnto the King, said with a pleasing grace and countenance, in our ancient language, the Saxon tongue paer Heal hlaford cyning, that is, waes heal hlaford cyning, which is, being rightly expounded according to our present speech, be of health Lord King, for as was, is our verbe of the preterimperfect tense, signifying haue bene, so, waes, being the same verbe in the imperative moode, and now pronounced was, is as much to say as grow, bee, or become, and waes-heal, by corruption of pronunciation afterward became to be Waslaile. The King not understanding what shee said, demanded it of his Chamberlaine, who was his Interpreter, and when he knew what it was, he asked him how he might againe answer her in her owne language, whereof being informed, hee said vnto her, opinc heal, i. drinc heal, that is to say, drinke health.

14423 Watling Street is one of the foure waies which the Romans are said to haue made here in England, and called them Consulares, Prætorias, Militares, Publicas. q. M. Camden in his Britannia per-swadeth himselfe, that there were more of this sort then foure. This Street is otherwise called Werlam Street, as the same Author saith, Werlam and Worlham the Romans might make it and the rest, the names bee from the Saxons, and Roger Houeden saith, it is so called, because the sonnes of Wethle made it leading from the East sea to the West, q. Annal. par. prior. fol. 248. a. This Street leadeth from Douer to London, and so to Saint Albons, and there onward directly toward the North-west thorough the Land, as from Dunstable to Westchester, q. An. 36. Elizab. cap. 2.

The second street is called Icknild street, beginning at Icenis, who were the people inhabiting Northfolke, Suffolk, and Cambridgeshire, as M. Camden declareth. The third is called Fosse, the reason of the name he giueth, because he thinketh it was ditched of each side. The fourth is called Ermin street, ab Erminfull, i. Mercurij columna, of lingua Germanica quam statuam Germani Majores nostri coluere: of these reade more in the said M. Camden, in the description of England, going vnder Saxon name, cap. 7. you may reade, that Belinus, a Briton King, made these foure waies, whereof the first and greatest he calleth Fosse, stretching out of the South into the North, and beginning from the corner of Cornwall, and passing forth by Devonshire, Somersetshire, and so along by Tetbury vpon Cotswold besides Couentree vnto Leicester, and thence by the wide plaines to Newark, and to Lincoln where it endeth. The second he nameth Watling street, coming out of the South-East toward the Fosse, beginning at Douer, and passing thorough the middle of Kent ouer Thames besides London, running along toward Westminster, and thence to Saint Albons by Dunstable, Stratford, Towcester, Woden, Lilborne, Athenston, Gilberts hill, now called Wreken by Seauerne, Worcester, Stratton, and so forth by the middle of Wales vnto Cardigan, and the Irish seas. The third is called Ermin street, stretching out of the West North-west, into the East South-east, from Saint Davids in the west Wales, vnto Southampton. The fourth he calleth Icknild street, stretching forth by Worcester, by Wiccombe, Brinningham, Litchfield, Darby, Chesterfield, and by Yorke, forth into Tynmouth. But he that listeth to reade at large of these Wayes, let him haue recourse to the first volume of Holinheads Chronicle, and the description of England there, the nineteenth chapter, where this Antiquitie is farre otherwise declared, then by the former writer. Henric of Huntingdon likewise in the first booke of his Historie, not farre from the beginning, mentioneth these foure streets, terming them Calles Regia sublimatos authoritate ne aliquis in eis inimicum inuadere accederet, &c.

- 14471 Wēights, Pondera. There be two sorts in use with vs. Weights.
The one called * Troy weight, which containeth twelue onzes in the pound, and no more, by which Pearle, Pretious stones, Electuaries, and medicinable things, Gold, Siluer, Bread be weighed: The other is called * Auer de pois, which containeth sixteene onzes in the pound. By this all other things are weighed that passe between man and man by weight, saying only those aboue named. Why it should be called Troy weight, it may be for that they terme it libram & vnciam Troianam, as if it came from Troy. But George Agricola in his learned Tractate, De ponderibus & mensuris, pag. 339. termeth the pound of twelue onzes, * Libram me-dicam, and the other sixteene onzes, * Libram ciuilem, saith thus of them both, Medica & Ciuilis libra, numero, non grauitate vnciarum differunt. The second seemeth so to be termed, by reason of the more full weight, for Avoir de pois, in French, is as much to say, as to haue full weight.
All our weights and measures haue their first composition from the Penny sterling, which ought to weigh two and thirtie wheat cornes of a middle sort, twentie of which Pence make an onze, and twelue such onzes a pound, or sixtie shillings, but sixteene onzes make the Merchants pound, q Fleta lib. 2. cap. 12. It is not unlike that this Merchants pound, though an onze less, should be all one in signification with the pound of Avoir de pois, and the other pound called by Fleta Trone weight, plainly appeareth to be all one with that we call Troy weight. See Tronage.

14565 Wiffheriam, (Veritum Namium) is in the Common Law, when a distresse is taken and driuen into a hold, or out of the Coun-trie, so that the Sheriffe cannot upon the Repleuin make deliuerie thereof to the partie distressed. In which case this Writ of Wiffheriam, or De Verito Namio, is directed to the Sheriffe, for the taking of as many of his beasts, that did thus unlawfully distresse, or as much goods of his into his keeping, till hee hath made deliuerance of the first distresse. The forme of the Writ is thus, q. Fitz. nat. br. fol. 73. Tibi præcipimus quod ave-ria prædicti B. in balliva tua capias in Wiffheriam, &c. and the q. Re-gift. Orig. fol. 82. & 83. & 79. a. & 80. a. and in the Reg. Iudic. fol.
29. a. & 30. a. whereby it appeareth, that the Sheriffe by these words is willed to take compensation and recompence of the former taking so many cattle, &c. It is called wiffheriam of the Low Dutch, and Saxon peddesen, or pedesen, the German Wiffher, i. rufus, againe, and Nam, or Nam, i. captio, a taking, of Namem, i. capere, to take, as it were a taking againe, as the old Latine word, Repræfalia, a Reprisal, when one taking of mee a distresse, which in Latine is called Pignus, or any other thing, and carrying it away out of the Iurisdiction where I dwell, I take by order of him that hath Iurisdiction, another distresse of him againe, or of some other of that Iurisdiction, and doe bring it into the Iurisdiction wherein I dwell, that by equall wrong I may come by equall right, * Na-matio animalium, likewise in Scotland is vsed for the pounding of Cattle, as q. M. Skene saith, de verbor. significat. verbo Averia, whom also reade verbo Namare. Also wiffheriam, in q. Bract. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 37.
And also in q. West. 2. cap. 2. seemeth to signifie an unlawfull distresse made by him that hath no right to distresse, q. Anno 13. Ed. 1. cap. 2.
q. New booke of Entries, verbo Wiffheriam, whereof is made this Latine word * Veritum Namium, a forbidden taking, or an unlawfull taking, viz. in the first taking or distresse, to take away the merchaile of q. M. Lamberd in his Explication of Saxon words, how Wiffheriam, which is a taking againe, should be Latined Veritum Namium, a forbidden taking, is nothing else but that the first taking or distresse was unlawfull, and so in Law forbidden, and thereof called Veritum Namium.

Anglor. cap. 9.) which the Ciuilians call Actionem sue formulam. But Actio scemeth rather the parties whole suit, and Breue is the Kings Precept, whereby any thing is commanded to be done touching the suit of Action: as the Defendant to be summoned, a distresse to be taken, a disseisin to be redressed, &c. And these Writs are diuersly diuised in diuers respects. Some in respect of their order, or manner of granting, are termed Originall, and some Iudiciall. * Originall Writs bee those that are sent out for the summoning of the Defendant in a personall, or a Tenant in a reall action, or other like purpose, before the suit beginneth, or to beginne the suit thereby. These be Iudiciall, that be sent out by order of the Court where the cause dependeth, upon occasion growing after suit begunne, q Old nat. br. fol. 51. And Iudiciall is thus by one signe knowne from the Originall, because the Teste beareth the name of the chiefe Iustice of that Court, whence it cometh, where the Originall beareth in the Teste the name of the King. Then according to the nature of the action, they be Personall or Reall: and Reall bee either touching the possession, called Writs of Entrie, or the propertie, called Writs of right, q Fitz. nat. br. sparsim per totum. Some Writs be at the suit of a partie, some of Office, q Old nat. br. fol. 147. Some ordinarie, some of priuiledge. A Writ of priuiledge is that which a priuiledged person bringeth to the Court for his exemption, by reason of some priuiledge. See Procedendo. See the New booke of Entries, verbo Priuiledge. - 14679 Yeoman seemeth to be one word made by contraction of two Danish words (Young men) which may be gathered out of Canutus Charter of the Forest, set out by M. Manwood, fol. 1. num. 2. These M. Cambr. in his Britan. placeth next in order to Gentlemen, calling them Ingenuos, whose opinion the Statute affirmeth, q Anno 16. R. 2. cap. 4. whereunto adde the Statute q Anno 20. eiusd. cap. 2. Sir Tho. Smith. in his Repub. Ang. lib. 1. cap. 23. calleth him a Yeoman whom our Lawes call Legalem hominem, which, as he saith, is in English, a free man borne, that may dispend of his owne free Land in yearely reue-nue to the summe of 40. s. sterling. M. Verstegan, cap. 10. writeth that Gemen among the ancient Germans, and Gemein among the Mo-derne signifieth as much as Common. And that the first letter G. in this word, as in many others, turned into Y. and so written Yemen, and that therefore Yemen or Yeomen, signifieth as much as a Commoner, in French Roturier. Yeoman also signifieth an Officer in the Kings house, which is in the middle place betweene the Sergeant and the Groome, as Yeoman of the Chaundrie, and Yeoman of the Sculle-rie, q Anno 33. H. 8. cap. 12. Yeoman of the Crowne, q Anno 3. Edw. 4. cap. 5. & Anno 22. eiusdem, cap. 1. & Anno 4. H. 7. cap. 7. This word Youngmen is used for Yeomen in the Statute q Anno 33. H. 8. cap. 10.

 cus circulus in Sphæra, 12. signa in se continens. Arietem nimirum, Taurum, Geminos, Cancrum, &c. & medium intersecat equatorem, ex vna parte comprehendens Cancræ Tropicum, ex altera Capricorni, in quibus ubi fuerit, facit annua sua que vocant Solstitia, secatur etiam ab æquato-rens. T. Chier kreth, i. circulus bestiarum appellatur. De signis autem hisce digni pro memoria versu Manilij:

Aurato princeps Aries in vellere fulgens, Respicit admirans aduersum surgere Taurum, Submisso vultu Geminos, & fronte vocantem : Quos sequitur Cancer : Cancrum Leo : Virgo Leonem Equato cum Libra die cum tempore notis Attrahit ardenti fulgenti Scorpion astro, In cuius candam contentum dirigit arcum Mixtus Equo, volucrum missurus iamq; Sagittara.
 Tum venit angusto Capricornus fidere flexus.
 Post hunc inflexam diffundit Aquarius vnam, Piscibus assuetas auidæ subuenibus undas.
 Quos Aries claudat tangentes ultima signa.

Aries ergo Zodiaci principium est secundum Aftronomos, quia verisimile sit multum mundum à Deo creatum, Sole tenente primum Arietis punctum, Deusque adeo in lege Moysis præceperit, vt sumerent Iudæi initium anni, cum soleset ingressus Arietis signum, & eo quoque tempore Paschatis cele-britatem peragerent, cum prius ad Aegyptiorum imitationem incoassent annum ab Autumno, q Fung. Atque hæc præcipua sint, quæ hîc communi-

 I. Zoilo. L. Zoilus. Gr. $\zeta\omicron\iota\lambda\omega$, Amphipolitanus fuit, qui stylum in Ho-merum strinxit. Vnde $\delta\upsilon\mu\epsilon\gamma\alpha\iota\sigma\tau\epsilon\varsigma$, Homeromastix, i. Homerum flagella-tor nuncupatus est, q Ouid. lib. 2. de rem. Amor. Ingenium magni liuor Amphipolis, he writ and bit against Homer, and therefore was called Ho-meromastix, i. a whipper of Homer, * Canis etiam Rhetoricus nomina-batur, q Alian. lib. 11. T. Aetherimener, een benijder.

 14712  Zone*. B. T. G. Zone. I. H. L. Zona, à Gr. $\zeta\omicron\upsilon\eta$, i. cingu-lum, à $\zeta\omicron\upsilon\upsilon\omega$, $\zeta\omicron\upsilon\upsilon\omega$, cingo. Hac enim sese cingebant & mulieres & milites. Hic enim Zona nimis secum deferre solebant. Illæ eadem ad-stringere ventrem. Hinc de hisce dicitur * virginem soluit Zonam, i. virgo esse desijt. De illis : Zonam perdidit, i. amisit pecuniam suam.
 Per metaphoram Zona est dictum & de circulis celestibus. Sunt enim quasi tot colorum cinguli : quinque autem numerantur in celo Zonæ. Fri-gida dicitur, torrida temperata, torrida vna, eaque propter excessum caloris vix habitabilis, vt nonnullis Cosmographis placet, nec tamen inter se om-nes conueniunt, q Virgil.

Quinque tenent celum Zonæ, quarum vna corusco Semper sole rubens, & torrida semper ab igne, Quam circum extrema dextra lenaque trabentes Cærulea glacie concrete atque imbribus atris.
 Has inter, medianque, due mortalibus ægris Munere concessæ Diuum & via secta per ambas Obliquus qua se signorum verteret ordo.

Meminir earum Ouidius 10. Metamorphi.

Vtque dux dextra celum totidemque sinistra Parte secant Zonæ, quinta est ardentior illis, Sic omis inclusum numero distinxit eodem Cura Dei : totidemque plage tellure premuntur ; Quarum quæ media est non est habitabilis æstus, Nix regit alta duas : totidemque inter vitrumque locauit, Temperiemque dedit mixta cum frigore flamma.

Zonas celi sunt qui fascias, cingula & plagas nominant. Ratio appellationis ex officio & fine manifesta. Cicero in Somn. Scipion. dicit ma-culas, ab eodem origine quoad nomen. Est & Zona morbi genus, Scribonio, vt qui non secus vt cingulum carnem circumdant. Et est ignis sacri species, in quo ardor cutim serpentibus minimis pustulis exasperat & vrit per artus reptans. Vnde & serpens Lucretio. L. Herpes. Græc. $\epsilon\pi\eta\iota\varsigma$, q Dioforid. $\epsilon\pi\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$, Nicandro. $\epsilon\pi\tau\upsilon\sigma\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ $\epsilon\lambda\alpha\sigma$, Polluci. T. Ein
